MEDIATION MOVE BRINGS GLEAM OF HOPE THROUGH EUROPE'S WAR-DARKENED SKIES

ENGLAND SEEKING TO BRIDGE OVER CRISIS

Powers Hope to Avert Actual Hostilities Between Austria-Hungary and Little Servia.

ALL EUROPE ON EDGE IN TENSE SCENES

London, July 27.—Glimmers of hope flickered in the darkened sky of European politics today and the wish was general that the efforts of the great European powers to avert a clash of arms which might involve many nations would be successful. While all the powers were preparing for possible eventualities the statesmen with Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, at their head were endeavoring to bring together the governments at issue with a view to mediation.

At the Servian legation in London the view was held that some improvement had taken place in the situation and this was attributed to the influence exercised by Russia. Alex Georgevitch, the first secretary, said: "We have complied with everything that does not impair our sovereign rights. We hope that Austria-Hungary, in the interests of peace, will recognize that consideration is due to an independent state and so avert war. If, however, Austria-Hungary wants war she will have seen that we are prepared to accept it in the interests of the dignity of our state."

Basis of Optimism.

The fact that Austrian ambassadors abroad were willing to meet with Russia led to the belief that an outlet for the deadlock would be found. The stock markets of London and the European capitals still displayed a panicky feeling, although it was not as pronounced as on Saturday.

The mere fact that hostilities between Austria-Hungary and Servia had not begun gave rise to the hope that war might be averted. There was, however, little change in the situation and the more optimistic feeling was largely based on the belief that the German emperor, who returned to Potsdam today from his cruise in northern waters, would throw his influence into the balance in favor of a peaceful settlement of the dispute. Another factor in favor of a peaceful arrangement was that the Austrian ambassador in St. Petersburg had shown willingness to discuss matters with the Russian minister.

No Move Until Tomorrow.

It was said this evening that Austria-Hungary would not move her forces against the Servian capital until tomorrow, which is confirmation of a statement made by the Austrian ambassador in London yesterday—that Austria-Hungary desired to give Servia further time to consider her reply to the ultimatum from Vienna. Outside of Austria-Hungary and Germany the reply sent by Servia is regarded as a very fair one as it grants all the demands which a sovereign state could grant.

It is pointed out that there is little use in Servia appealing for mediation, however, since Austria-Hungary has declared the matter to be between her and Servia and in this she is backed up by Germany and Italy, her partners in the triple alliance. In the meantime all the nations of Europe are making preparations for war, as none of them wishes to be caught napping in case hostilities should break out.

Even England Prepares.

Even England, which is credited with the determination to stand aside unless she should be forced into the conflict, is

GOES TO RESCUE OF BLOOMINGTON

Public Service Commission Aids in Water Supply Problem.

Bloomington, Ind., July 27.—Members of the public service commission were in this city today studying the problem of providing the city with an adequate supply of water. The commission is here as the result of a petition of the business men of the city, asking that it come and investigate the various water sites that are under consideration and make recommendations to the city.

The recommendations will be on the question whether the city needs an additional supply and will not interfere with the work that is being done on the Leonard springs extension to the waterworks system. Work on this extension is being rushed as rapidly as possible, and it is expected the new system will be in use in sixty days.

Ireland Stirred by Clash Between Soldiers and Nationalists.

CROWD ATTACKS ROYAL BARRACKS

Police Battle All Night to Disperse Throngs After Conflict.

Bublin, July 27.—The city of Dublin and the greater part of Catholic Ireland was today in a state of the greatest excitement over yesterday's conflict between the regular troops of the British army and the Irish nationalists which resulted in the killing of four persons and the wounding of many others, forty of whom were still in hospitals today in a serious condition.

Day had dawned today before the police succeeded in dispersing the crowds marching through the streets singing patriotic songs and looking for soldiers of the second battalion of the King's Own Scottish guard.

Crowd Attacks Barracks.

The crowd finding that the soldiers had been ordered to remain in barracks attacked the royal barracks where the borderers are stationed and clamored for the soldiers to come out. Finally the mob kicked down a gate of the barracks and fired a couple of shots, upon which a bugle was sounded, the police came on the scene and the crowd was dispersed.

The nationalist leaders take the most serious view of the affair and will demand reparation from the government.

The landing of arms yesterday for the nationalists was carried on in a more daring manner than similar feats achieved by the Ulster Volunteers, as

MURDER AT INDIANAPOLIS ENDS ARGUMENT OVER WAR.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 27.—Argument over the war situation in Europe is believed to have been the cause of the killing of George Wise and Austrian by Tom Dorak, also an Austrian, early today. Dorak, who used a long blade hunting knife, is under arrest. There is much excitement in the foreign quarter and the police fear there will be many fights in the quarter. There are about 600 Servians and nearly as many Austrians in Indianapolis, and a number already have made preparations to return to their native countries.

O'Gorman Now Expects Warburg to Appear and Be Confirmed.

Washington, July 27.—President Wilson is laying plans for an active part in the fall campaign. Candidates in several states have urged the president to help them, and while he had given no definite replies they are counting on him to make several speeches.

New York city democrats in the house today offered a resolution to ask for a conference with President Wilson to go over party questions. Representatives Cantor and Levy, who took exception to any interference in the president's policy in any way were absent.

Representative Fitzgerald made this statement: "The delegation decided to request the president to meet the democratic members of congress from New York city for the advancement of the welfare of the democratic party in the state and City of New York."

NOT YET READY TO END FIGHTING

Constitutionalists and Federals in Skirmish at Soledad.

Vera Cruz, July 27.—Reports from various points along the railroad from Vera Cruz to Mexico City indicate that the constitutionalists are not ready to cease fighting. A skirmish occurred at Soledad, where a small federal garrison made successful resistance. The federal commander at Orizba, some distance nearer the capital, refused to grant the demand of a constitutionalist officer that his men be given an hour in which to sack the city in return for placing them in command of a federal officer.

Sixty federal soldiers stationed at Tembladeras, the point where the American train from Vera Cruz was accustomed to stop while the track was broken, are reported to have mutinied and marched to join the constitutionalists near Soledad.

The steamship Buenos Aires with many political refugees from Mexico on board sailed today for Europe from New York.

Seventeen Babies Brought to Free Station Monday.

Seventeen infants, each suffering from improper feeding, were brought by anxious mothers to the free milk dispensary Monday morning at the First Presbyterian church and among them were three pair of twins. This was the greatest number treated in one day since the milk depot opened two months ago.

Those in charge of the work that is being done say that mothers should exercise special care in the feeding of their infants during the extremely hot weather. Each of the babies prescribed for by attending physicians at the depot have shown improvement and one not considered almost beyond recovery, gained eight ounces in weight in less than a week.

BOARD OF WORKS BUDGET PROBLEM

Paving and River Dredging Will Require Two Big Appropriations.

The unceasing demand for street paving and the necessity to carry on an extensive program of river dredging put the board of works face to face with the serious problem of money in making up its estimate of appropriations needed for next year. There has been so far no definite estimate set down for either of these items, but Chairman Frank E. Singrey stated Monday that if the board should undertake to come anywhere near meeting the demand for paving next year not less than $50,000 would be required. This would be about $18,000 less than the total that will have been expended for new street intersections in 1914 when the year's paving program is completed. How much Comptroller W. C. Baade will finally allot to the board for paving is not known. Another $50,000 could be used by the board in river dredging, including the purchase of a suitable dredge and the cost of operation. Mayor Hosey and his board of works believe extensive work in clearing the river channels should be carried on next year and will do the best they can. It is not improbable that some legislation will be necessary to make these operations valid and the board will seek permission from the war department to carry on the work. Added to these two big items are the necessity for some increase in the garbage disposal fund, especially for collection, more money for sewer maintenance and repairs, for the erection of a storehouse and repair shop for the waterworks department, a fire engine house in the Tenth ward and a fireproof building in which to securely house the headquarters of the electric fire alarm system. For the storehouse money may be spared this year from the general fund. It is likely that no abatement of the 10-cent levy for track elevation will be made, though there may be found some such possibility, owning to the fact that the 10-cent levy has run through this year without any drain on the fund.

The board expects to submit its estimates to Comptroller Baade Tuesday, and the entire municipal budget will be sent to the council by that official Tuesday evening.

Comptroller Baade will probably not consent to a larger appropriation for street intersections than $20,000. He thinks that will be enough to start next year's work with and if the condition of the general fund warrants further appropriations for that purpose he says the draft can be made when needed.

ANOTHER TOUR OF INTERCEPTOR.

Examination from Coombs Street to Howard Shows Fair Condition.

An inspection of the interior of the intercepting sewer from Coombs street to Howard, a distance of about 1,800 feet, was made Monday by Ambrose Geary, and one of his men of the sewer department. Conditions were found much better than expected. There is considerable dirt in the drain, but no such accumulation as was looked for. This leads Mayor Hosey and Chairman Singrey, of the board of works, to believe that conditions above Coombs street will be found much better than had been feared. With a pump throwing a five-inch stream the water is being kept well down at the break in the sewer at Howard street and the repair work there is going forward rapidly. The dirt that fell into the sewer when the break occurred and that has since been washed in, is being removed and as soon as that is completed an hour or two of work by the brick masons will serve to close up the hole in the arch.

RUSHING WORK ON SPUR TRACK.

Lake Shore Brings in Forty Carloads of Dirt for No. 2 Siding.

The Lake Shore railroad has brought in forty carloads of dirt from the north to construct the embankment for the spur track that is being run from the Lake Erie main track to the city asphalt repair plant and waterworks station No. 2. The ties and rails have been put down and the work of rearing the embankment will go forward rapidly. The railroad got at the work somewhat later than was expected, but it is believed it will not now take long to complete the track. This spur is 1,100 feet long and 850 feet of this will be owned outright by the city. It will be a great convenience for shipping and storage purposes for all sorts of bulky supplies.

COST OVER $12,000.

Engineer J. R. The track is of standard construction with 2,543.7 feet of single track and 889.5 feet of double track. The total cost of the work, including paving sewer connections, was $12,165.62, all of which is borne by the company.

The board's estimates for 1915 are: Fire department, $89,670; police department, $75,829; city scales, $1,006; city sealer, $3,138; market house, $1,459; salaries of board and clerk, $12,300. The board asks for $15,000 to motorize the equipment at No. 1 engine house.

it was effected in daylight. The yacht from which the arms and ammunition were brought ashore already had landed 2,500 rifles and 125,000 rounds of ammunition at isolated points along the coast and these had been successfully distributed by motor cars among the nationalist volunteers.

How Trouble Arose.

Yesterday's attempt was undertaken to show that the nationalists could do what the Ulster unionists had done. At Howth, 2,500 rifles and 250,000 rounds of ammunition were landed under the eyes of the police, the telegraph wires having been cut to prevent communication with Dublin. Automobiles carried off 1,500 of the rifles and all the ammunition and a body of nationalist volunteers then started for Dublin with 1,000 rifles, but no ammunition. The police sent to intercept the volunteers cheered the gun runners and everything seemed to be going smoothly until the battalion of Scottish borderers came on the scene and demanded that the arms be surrendered. The nationalist volunteers refused to give up the rifles and the soldiers then charged with fixed bayonets, wounding a number of the volunteers. While the leaders of the volunteers and the regimental officers were parleying, the rank and file of the volunteers scattered and got away with the rifles. The news quickly reached Dublin and a mob gathered to meet the soldiers on their return. Volleys of stones were thrown at the troops and twenty of the soldiers were ordered to fire. The nationalist volunteers took no part in the street fighting.

The lord mayor of Dublin today demanded in the interests of peace of the city that the battalion of the Scottish borderers be removed. Movements in the barracks indicated that preparations were being made to send the regiment elsewhere. The gates of the barracks were guarded by a strong force of police.

The assistant commissioner of police, who yesterday requistioned the military, was today suspended from duty, pending an inquiry.

Sixteen policemen, suspended for refusing to obey orders, were placed under arrest and ordered to remain in barracks, but refused to obey.

BUILDING PERMITS.

WILL BE A FULL INQUIRY.

Redmond Makes Demand As House of Commons Session Opens.

London, July 27.—Information as to the "shocking occurrence in Dublin yesterday" as John E. Redmond, the Irish nationalist leader put it was demanded immediately after the opening of the house of commons today. Mr. Redmond was so dissatisfied with the meagre information given him that he moved the adjournment of the house in order to debate the matter.

Augustin Berrill, chief secretary for Ireland, threw the blame for yesterday's conflict between the troops and public on the assistant mayor who had requisitioned the military entirely on his own responsibility. The official consequently had been suspended while an inquiry was made. The nationalist members shouted, "he ought to be hanged."

The matter will be debated in the house tonight. Mr. Berrill said the major in command of the detachment of the Queen's own Scotch borderers had given orders to fire on the people.

Mr. Redmond: "He ought to be hanged."

Lord Robert Cecil: "The ministers ought to be hanged."

Mr. Berrill said the soldiers withdrew after several of them had received severe injuries. The officers stopped the firing immediately, but three had been killed and 32 injured. He added there would be a full inquiry.

getting her warships ready. The leave which is generally granted to the crews after the annual mobilization of the fleet for exercises has been cancelled and the vessels are to be kept on a war footing. They began coaling yesterday with the expectation that they would be ordered to the North sea, which would be England's danger point in the event of a European outbreak.

Sir Edward Grey invited the governments of Austria-Hungary, Servia and Russia to suspend operations pending the result of his proposed conference which would be held in London. His suggestion was that the French, German and Italian ambassadors in London should confer with him in the endeavor to find a means of solving the present difficulties. Until late this afternoon he had not yet received complete replies to his proposal.

EMPEROR HURRIES HOME.

But Germany Has Issued No Orders to Her Army as Yet.

Berlin, July 27.—Emperor William, who arrived at Kiel today on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern, proceeded at once to Potsdam on a special train. A large crowd gathered at the Kiel station and as his majesty departed, the people cheered and sang patriotic songs. The emperor will go direct to his palace at Potsdam, where the empress arrived this morning.

The military element in Germany calmly awaits the outcome of the international crisis. It is stated that no orders have been issued to the army in this connection and that the customary furloughs to a proportion of the soldiers in order that they might help in the field work at their homes during the harvest has not been interrupted.

SERVIAN QUITS VIENNA.

Austria Sets Out Dissatisfaction With Servian Reply.

Vienna, July 27.—M. Jovanovitch, Servian minister to Austria-Hungary, left for Belgrade today.

A communication issued by the Austro-Hungarian foreign office today sets forth the Austrian view of the Servian reply to Austria's note demanding the cessation of the pan-Servian agitation and the punishment of those concerned in the assassination at Sarayvo of Arch Duke Francis Ferdinand and his consort. The communication gives the reasons for Austrian dissatisfaction with Servia's reply.

It was pointed out today that Austria-Hungary being a signatory to the second Hague convention, would be obliged formally to declare war, but as Servia did not sign that convention such a declaration might perhaps be regarded as unnecessary in this instance.

Mediation Board Begins New Week of Effort at Chicago.

Chicago, July 27.—The federal board of mediation, which is sitting here in an endeavor to adjust the wage dispute between the locomotive engineemen of the western railroads and their employers, resumed sessions today in the second week of the hearings. Prospects for a full settlement were said to be dark last week, but nothing autoritative was announced owing to the pledge of silence by both sides. Possibility of agreement rests at present, it is said, on a plan for arbitration under discussion by the engineement during the last three days.

Arguments on the application will be heard Oct. 5.

HURLS AN ATTACK AT DEAD EDITOR

Caillaux Reads Calmette Documents in Wife's Murder Trial.

Paris, July 27.—When Mme. Caillaux took her seat today in the criminal court at the palace of justice for the seventh day's hearing of her trial for the wilful murder on March 16 of Gaston Calmette, editor of the Figaro, she appeared much calmer than on the preceding days. She had suffered from two fainting spells last night as the result of the severe strain she underwent on Saturday when she swooned during the reading of the letters sent by her to Joseph Caillaux, former French premier, while he was the husband of Mme. Gueydan.

As soon as Judge Louis Albanet and his three associates had taken their seats on the bench M. Caillaux demanded to be heard. He said: "The Figaro having accused me today of suborning witnesses I would like to submit to the court some authentic papers concerning the late Gaston Calmette and relations with the Hungarian government. I have hesitated to use them, but I have decided to do so in view of the Figaro's attitude. I desire also to read the late M. Calmette's will."

Mitre Chenu "How did you get it?"

M. Caillaux "In the same way that you got my letters."

M. Caillaux then proceeded to read the will.

Maitre Chenu "Would M. Caillaux tell us in what way all this excuses the crime of his wife?"

"There are some questions which ought not to be asked," M. Caillaux replied hotly, "but since I am asked I shall answer. There is something perhaps worse than losing one's life: that is to live by attacking women and enriching oneself at their expense."

Testimony in the trial was completed today. Counsel for the defense and prosecution will sum up tomorrow.

During a quarrel as to which should drive, Verne drew a rifle from under the seat and shot Charles in the breast. Following the shooting Verne drove his brother to the office of Dr. Schrock in this place for examination. NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

SAYS SHE WAS ABDUCTED.

Colored Girl of Fort Wayne Causes Sensation in Huntington.

Huntington, Ind., July 27.—For a time late Saturday evening and Sunday Huntington was said to be the center of an alleged abduction of a negro girl, age 12 years, of Fort Wayne. The girl, Hazel Mathews told the police that she had been coerced to come to Huntington by two white women, who, she said, had promised to take her to Mishawak, where she was to have been given employment.

Mrs. Lena Mathews, a negress of Fort Wayne, accompanied by her daughter, who was said to have been the victim of white kidnappers, asked police to investigate the story told by the girl. Searching about Huntington failed to reveal thee two "kidnappers."

The Fort Wayne negro girl had journeyed to Huntington from Fort Wayne. She said she had been brought to Huntington by two white women, but that she had escaped them.

The abduction tale was discredited by Huntington negroes.

TO IMPROVE LITTLE RIVER.

Huntington, Ind., July 27.—City Civil Engineer Latchem has started a survey of Little River. This is the first step taken by the city administration toward fulfilling the request of 205 leading citizens of Huntington who on June 1 petitioned in the name of the Commercial association that a channel be dug in Little river and that the stream be placed in a condition to eliminate stagnant pools and the resulting stench that in past summers has arisen from the stream. The survey will require three or four weeks.

VAN WERT WOMAN DIES.

Van Wert, Ohio, July 27.—Mrs. Mary Griffith, a highly esteemed resident of this city, is dead after an illness of six months' duration. The deceased, who was born in Delaware county sixty-one years ago, had resided in Van Wert the greater part of her life. She is survived by two sons, Edward Griffith, at home and Joseph Grijth, of Cincinnati. Also several brothers, none of whom reside here. Her husband, the late Benjamin Griffith, died here several years ago.

BIG LOSS WHEN BARN BURNS.

Decatur, Ind., July 27.—During a severe electric storm the barn of D. A. Ross, who resides four miles directly east of the city, was struck by lightning and totally consumed. The barn contained twenty-five tons of new hay, besides various articles and implements and harness. The horses happened to be out in the yard. The lightning struck right where the hay had been stored and the entire building, which was large, was seemingly in an instant enveloped in flames. Nothing could be saved. The barn was insured, but not at all near the loss.

LITTLE GIRL WILL RECOVER.

Plymouth, Ind., July 27. — Mary Stroupe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Stroupe, of Bourbon, who was accidently shot by her brother is improving nicely and her recovery in a short time is hoped for. The little girl, along with her brother, was going after the cows and Mary was walking a short distance ahead of her brother, who was carrying a rifle. The gun was accidently discharged and the bullet plowed through the scalp of the child.

WOMAN BREAKS ARM.

Bluffton, Ind., July 27.—Mrs. John McAfee, a well known lady of Rockcreek township, sustained a Colles fracture of her right arm this forenoon, when she slipped and fell on the floor at her home. LIGHTNING KILLS FINE HORSE.

Huntington, Ind., July 27.—Henry Wike, a farmer living near the Jefferson-Lancaster township line, lost a valuable horse when it was struck by lightning. The horse was in a stall in the barn, and a lightning rod ran past an open window. It is probable that lightning followed the rod, and jumped to the horse in its course to the ground.

SLAYS HORSES; PARALYZES MAN.

Bluffton, Ind., July 27.—Fred Payne, who with two other men was working in a field two miles north of Buckeye when the storm struck, narrowly escaped death from a bolt of lightning, which stunned and partially paralyzed him, at the same time it killed two of the three horses hitched to a binder which he had been helping operate on the Ruble farm.

"Cut out tea and coffee, my boy. They contain an irritant—caffeine—and you can't have a fluttery heart or sour stomach or a grouchy headache and do big business."

It's a mighty good plan, if tea or coffee puts you "off color," to quit it, and for a delicious table beverage, use

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Acts 27:33-44.

33 And while the day was coming on, Paul besought them all to take meat, saying, This day is the fourteenth day that ye have tarried and continued fasting, having taken nothing.

34 Wherefore I pray you to take some meat: for this is for your health: for there shall not an hair fall from the head of any of you.

35 And when he had thus spoken, he took bread, and gave thanks to God in presence of them all: and when he had broken it, he began to eat.

36 Then were they all of good cheer, and they also took some meat.

37 And we were in all in the ship two hundred three score and sixteen souls.

38 And when they had eaten enough, they lightened the ship, and cast out the wheat into the sea.

39 And when it was day, they knew not the land; but they discovered a certain creek with a shore, into the which they were minded, if it were possible, to thrust in the ship.

40 And when they had taken up the anchors, they committed themselves unto the sea, and loosed the rudder bands, and hoisted up the mainsail to the wind, and made toward shore.

41 And falling into a place where two seas met, they ran the ship aground; and the forepart struck fast, and remained unmoveable, but the hinder part was broken with the violence of the waves.

42 And the soldiers' counsel was to kill the prisoners, lest any of them should swim out, and escape.

43 But the centurion, willing to save Paul, kept them from their purpose; and commanded that they which could swim should cast themselves first into the sea, and get to land:

44 And the rest, some on boards, and some on broken pieces of the ship. And so it came to pass, that they escaped all safe to land.

MONDAY, JULY 27, 1914.

The War on Habit-Forming Drugs.

Muncie, Alexandria and other cities in that section of the state have recently been the storm-center of the war Indiana is making on the sale and use of habit-forming drugs. Fort Wayne but a year or more ago displayed considerable activity in this direction, with net results that certainly improved the situation considerably if it did not absolutely eradicate the evil locally. But the Indiana law governing the sale of morphine, heroin, cocaine and similar drugs, model as it is in many respects, shows a vital weakness that must handicap attempts at eradication until it is remedied.

Under the Indiana law agents of the state board of pharmacy can examine the books of wholesale druggists and manufacturing chemists in Indiana and ascertain to whom they have sold the habit-forming drugs, but the agents are powerless against similar concerns outside the state. It is notorious that Chicago sends great quantities of the drugs into Hammond, South Bend, Terre Haute and other Indiana points. It is said that a Philadelphia concern recently sold in Muncie one of the largest consignments of heroin tablets ever shipped in a single lot, and Evansville is credited with securing its supply from across the river in Kentucky.

Until this situation is remedied, any thoroughly effectual warfare on the dope evil in Indiana will be well nigh impossible. Nor can state legislative enactment provide a remedy that will be efficacious. For this reason the recent appeal of reputable Indiana druggists for federal action should receive prompt and favorable attention. There is now pending in congress a bill modeled after the Indiana act, but made nation-wide in its scope, under which it would be possible to keep accurate tab on sales of the stuff wherever it is made. In support of this measure Indian druggists have appealed to the Indiana continent in congress. The authorities should not be denied proper equipment in their war against the dope evil.

The exchange of epistolary crossfire between Governor Ralston and Senator Frank N. Gavit, of Hammond, regarding the manner in which the Lake county recorder's salary bill came to be signed and published as a law without having passed the legislature is intensely interesting. What the Indiana general public most desires, however, is the prompt discovery and the adequate punishment of those who were guilty of putting the fraud over on the governor and on the state.

State primary results in Texas make it apparent that the anti-prohibition forces are still in the saddle in that state, though by a rather surprisingly small margin. But they also show that even Texas is edging over toward the decision which will within a very few years banish booze from the Lone Star state. The showing of the temperance element there constitutes a force that will not long be denied.

It is something of a shock to be told that a good many New York moosers threaten to desert Colonel Roosevelt because of his advocacy of Mr. Hinman as the third party nominee for governor. Still, it wouldn't be so very difficult for a genius of Mr. Roosevelt's calibre to constitute a political party all by himself if the others quit. And he's probably going to do it.

Washington dispatches assure us that the republican members of congress are now so anxious to quit and get home that they are willing to aid the democrats in rushing through the anti-trust program. Since the democrats and the general public have alredy declared themselves, this would appear to make the thing unanimous. Now let's hurry.

PRESS COMMENT ON NEW HAVEN CASE.

Making Guilt Personal.

Philadelphia Ledger: "The United States is now engaged in the task of making guilt personal. That phase of the New Haven case eclipses in interest the attorney general's suit to dissolve that railroad system."

The Beginning.

Washington Post: "This is the beginning of what will doubtless prove the most far-reaching court procedure ever instituted by the government in the case of a corporation alleged to be acting in violation of the federal statutes."

A Little Harsh.

Philadelphia Inquirer: "While we have little respect for the offending railway corporation, the circumstances of the present prosecution are a little harsh."

Ignored by President.

Rochester Post Express: "Interests which the present management of the New Haven has done its best to protect were ignored by the president when he ordered the attorney general to take the case into the courts."

The Criminal Laws.

Philadelphia Bulletin: "Whether or not the directors of the New Haven corporation deemed subject to grand jury proceedings shall agree to a settlement of civil litigation should have no bearing on the enforcement of the criminal laws."

The Public's Verdict.

Washington Herald: "Even as the case of the New Haven directors now stands they are not without argument on their side, but it will have little weight in forming the public verdict."

Not Making War.

Baltimore Sun: "There will be no suggestion that President Wilson is making war upon 'big business' in ordering the attorney general to bring action at once to dissolve the New Haven railroad."

Bad Faith.

New York World: "The directors of the New Haven have evidenced the same kind of bad faith toward the government that they evidenced toward their own stockholders."

SECRETS OF THE SENATE.

(New York Tribune.)

The senate is never more solemnly amusing than when it appoints a committee to apprehend and punish those who betray its secrets. No such committee has ever caught anybody red-handed. The real culprits are the senators themselves and for a senate "smelling committee" to convict a senator of betraying official secrets would be an unheard-of breach of senatorial courtesy.

A body of ninety-six members can have no official secrets. Moreover, most of the alleged secrets concern the public as much as they do senators and ought to be public property. Senators know that they are doing a service in disseminating facts in which outsiders have a legitimate interest. There have been very few senators so stern and unbending, for instance, as not to communicate to a waiting world transactions in executive sessions concerning nominees for office whom they were befriending.

The rule of secrecy must be interpreted with great liberality, even by those who defend it. A senator is entitled to use his own judgment in breaking it. That is the only basis on which it can be enforced. The "smelling committee" headed by Mr. Williams knows this already, but if it ever makes a report it will probably dodge that fundamental fact, whitewash all senators of guilt and put the blame on some dictographic instrument, real or psychological, inserted in the eaves of the senate chamber.

HOW TO KEEP FACE YOUNG AND ATTRACTIVE

The way to ward off old age is not to fear it, not to allow one's self to be oppressed by the dread of advancing years. Use only legitimate preventives and avoid trying experiments with preparations not indorsed by physicians. An entirely safe and very effective way to keep the complexion young looking and beautiful is to apply ordinary mercolized wax at bedtime, using it like cold cream, washing it off in the morning. This gradually absorbs the withered, faded cuticle, which is replaced by the more youthful, pink tinted underskin. One ounce of this wax, to be had at any drug store, is enough to completely rejuvenate a worn out complexion.

Crow's feet and other wrinkles, the first signs of advancing age, may be removed by a simple, harmless preparation made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. It is used as a face bath.

WEARS A HICKORY SHIRT IN PULPIT

Alton, Ill., Pastor Commends Members Who Come in Plain Raiment.

Alton, Ill., July 27.—Wearing an old hickory shirt and a pair of striped trousers and coatless, Rev. Dr. D. C. Blunt, pastor of the East Alton Baptist church, opened the services yesterday by commending many of the congregation for conforming with requests for simple and comfortable dress in church.

Several members of the church had suggested that the men wear overalls and jumpers and blue shirts and the women their old house dresses.

The younger set did not respond to the invitation, but many of the older members appeared in simple dress. The services were largely attended, many going from curiosity.

Plain clothes for church wear was suggested following statements by members of the church that their clothes were not good enough to wear at services. Some said they were ashamed to sit beside girls and women in new dresses, Panamas, gay bonnets and other creations.

Dr. Blunt said he would have worn overalls if he had had a pair, but he did not consider it necessary to purchase any when he had several pairs of old trousers.

John Jones and J. T. Paddock first requested that all members attend worship attired simply instead of simply attired.

WANTED—AUTO FOR MULE.

Winstead, Conn., July 27.—That agriculturists are getting the craze for automobiles is indicated by the fact that Roscoe Benjamin, a local automobile merchant, received a letter from a farmer who wanted to swap a fertilizer spreader for a car.

Another wanted to exchange a good mowing machine for a second-hand car and John Hall, of North Colebrook, offered a mule, sound in every respect, for a modern car, little used.

AN EPIDEMIC OF ACCIDENTS

automobile in which she was riding with Marvel Blodgett and Hallie and George Weigel, of 702 High street, struck a big touring car owned and driven by Killian Vorndran, the real estate dealer, three miles north of the city on the Leo road. In the Vordran machine were Nathan Kaplan, L. H. Levonian and Samuel Kessler, all residing at 1215 West Jefferson street, and Carl, Frank and Edmond Vorndran.

The two cars crashed head-on and the car carrying the four young people was hurled into the ditch. Mr. Vorndran stated that he had just passed a small bridge and was at the side of the road when the small car came speeding down the hill. The car remained upright, however. Miss Blodgett was the only one of the four whose injuries necessitated her staying at the hospital, and it is said that she would be able to leave the institution late Monday. None of the passengers in the Vorndran car were injured, but the machine turned completely around in the roadway and the steering gear and fender were broken.

Plunge Into River.

Frank Snarr, a well digger, residing in the neighborhood of Poe, and Mrs. Ezra Hiser, formerly of Poe, miraculously escaped death at 6:30 o'clock Saturday night when an automobile in which they were riding plunged over the Spy Run avenue enbankment, 100 feet north of the State street bridge, and dropped thirty-five feet into the waters of St. Joseph river. The only injury to either was a broken rib sustained by Snarr. Mrs. Hiser was thrown clear of the machine and landed in water above her depth, but managed to scramble to shore and was apparently none the worse for the accident. The car was demolished.

The man stated that he was returning to Fort Wayne from New Haven and had come into town by way of State street and turned north at Spy Run avenue, going to the 2300 block of that street. Later he decided to turn around and come back to the center of the city. The engine stopped as the car was only a short distance from the fence along the river and he got out and cranked the engine, without first having neglected to throw the machine on neutral. The engine started and the car plunged past Snarr, who grasped the brake, and with the woman in the machine and the man holding on to the side, it made the thirty-five foot drop, carrying with it about thirty feet of the fence.

The two were taken to the Wabash depot by Henry Kintz, jr., who resides nearby, and it is believed that they separated there, for the man was seen about town later in the evening.

Two Women Injured.

Mrs. Ethel Shober Fleet, daughter of

MISS IRENE BLODGETT, Fort Wayne Girl Painfully Hurt in Auto Accident.

Gart Shober, and Miss Agnes Taylor, a friend, were run down by a motorcycle at 2:30 o'clock about sixty feet north of the entrance to Centlivre park, where they were en route to attend the band concert. The machine was driven by Albert Romy. The women were walking near the ditch on the right side of the road and Romy was coming up behind them. Fearing he could not pass between them and an approaching automobile, the young man attempted to ride between the two women. The handlebar struck Mrs. Fleet and the machine swung and struck Miss Taylor in the back. Both were knocked down and suffered injuries that will confine them to their home in Irvington park for some time.

Romy called Henry Kintz, jr., to his assistance and the women were removed to their home and later given medical attention by Dr. E. H. Kruse. Miss Taylor suffered a severe laceration on the head and a sprained knee, while Mrs. Fleet was badly bruised and both suffered from the nervous shock of the accident.

Girl Leaps From Bridge.

Fearing that a train was approaching after some boys had shouted to her from the river bank, Miss Pauline Spaw, aged seventeen years, residing at Coesse, Ind., leaped from the Pennsylvania bridge at Swinney park, over the St. Mary's river and alighted on the rocks twenty-five feet below. Luckily she escaped with only a dislocated shoulder and a fractured wrist. This bridge is the structure where William Newport and his small son were killed a few weeks ago.

Accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bowers and baby, of 1415 Thompson avenue, Miss Spaw was en route to the ball game at League park. The girl's mother, Mrs. Josephine Spaw, was notified of the accident and arrived later in the afternoon.

Burned by Gasoline.

Adrian T. Riggs, 1101 East Lewis street, is in a serious condition, suffering from burns sustained at noon Sunday when a can of gasoline exploded after having been ignited by sparks from defective electrical wiring. He was using the gasoline to clean his automobile.

Mr. Riggs is badly burned about the chest, neck, arms and face and his face is so badly burned that he is unable to open his eyes and it was with difficulty that he was able to tell details of the accident.

He said he was on the opposite side of the machine from the gasoline can and suddenly he was blinded by a strong arc formed by a hanging wire. He rushed to the side of the garage in an attempt to turn off the electrical switch, but the explosion occurred before he was able to get out of the structure. In a flash his clothing was aflame and he first tired to tear off his shirt. Unable to do this he ran from the barn and rolled along the grass until he lost consciousness. His father, attracted by his call for aid, ran to him with several neighbors and were soon able to extinguish the flames. The young man was carried into the house and his injuries were dressed by Dr. Benninghoff. He regained consciousness late Sunday evening and has a chance to recover.

Motorcyclist Injured.

George Walch, 1430 Clifton avenue, suffered a fractured upper and lower jaw and injuries to his back and shoulders at 11 o'clock Saturday night when his motorcycle collided with a buggy on the Leo road as he was returning from Robison park. A man and woman were riding in the buggy and when the vehicle was struck by the machine the horse frightened and ran away and the buggy was demolished but neither the man nor his companion was injured. Louis Steup, of West Jefferson street picked Welch up and brought him to St. Joseph's hospital. Welch said he became blinded by dust and was unable to see the buggy.

Aeronauts Escape.

After it had been lifted fifty feet in the air, a balloon in which George Huebner and William Bierbaum were attempting to make an ascension Sunday at Robison park, fell to the ground and dragged the two men across the chutes, down the river bank, through a grove of oak trees and finally turned completely over about 300 feet from where it started. Neither of the men was injured, but both were badly frightened as it was their first attempt to ride a balloon, and they were unable to leave the big bag to which they had been strapped. As Bierbaum was cut loose from the balloon, it again shot upwards and Heubner, thinking he could make an ascension and drop got back into the trapeze, but he was carried only a short distance and had several narrow escapes from injury in the short flight over the park.

Foreigner is Drowned.

Pasquale Genziano, a foreigner aged twenty-two years, rooming at 406 Bass street, was drowned at 12:45 o'clock Sunday when he stepped into a hole over his depth while bathing in the St. Mary's river, between the South Broadway bridge and the old Esmond dam. His body was recovered by Officer Joseph Degitz and Earl Browning. The man could not swim and immediately went down when he stepped into the hole. Fellow countrymen on the river bank were unable to aid him as none of them was able to swim.

Genziano was employed by the Moellering Construction company and is survived by the parents and three sisters in Italy. Funeral services Tuesday and interment will be made at the Catholic cemetery.

Goes Through a Bridge.

Frightened at a passing street car a horse driven by Elmer Waters, residing near Robison park, ran away on Spy Run avenue at 9:30 o'clock Saturday night and into the street car bridge across Spy Run creek, near Centlivre's brewery. The animal's feet and legs went between the ties of the bridge and it was necessary to extract the horse with the aid of ropes and a tackle. The horse was not injured and after the harness had been removed was driven home.

222 GOLF EXPERTS IN GREAT CONTEST

Links at Grand Rapids Are Mecca for Knights of the Brassie.

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 27.—Soon after daylight began streaming over the hills beyond the Kent Country club this morning the elimination round of the western amateur golf championship tournament began. Two hundred and twenty-two contestants prepared to play 18 holes each before dusk tonight.

The sixty-four men turning in the lowest medal scores will compete tomorrow forenoon in the qualifying round of 18 holes medal play. In the afternoon the thirty-two survivors will begin match play, which will continue until Saturday, when a new champion will be made.

Although the former course record 70, which many golfers believed impregnable, was lowered to 69 by "Chick" Evans, of Chicago, in a practice match last Saturday, there were many enthusiasts who believed that today's medal play might shatter even Evans' new mark. The course, although hilly and rather difficult, has been put in good condition by the recent hot weather, and many scores of less than 75 have been turned in since the stars of the western golf world began tuning up for the important event. On account of the unusually large list of entries, it was not possible to play the elimination and qualifying rounds today.

NEW NAVAL ORDER CAUSES COMMENT

Imprisonment for Desertion is Abolished in Time of Peace

Washington, July 27.—Secretary Daniels' drastic order calling for the abolition of imprisonment for desertion from the navy in times of peace was the subject of general comment in naval circles here today. The order provides for the summary dismissal instead of imprisonment of blue jackets who overstay their leave, get drunk while on shore or commit similar breaches of discipline and for the honorable discharge of men who want to quit the service by merely refunding certain enlistment allowances.

The new regulations, which are a radical departure from the methods which have heretofore prevailed in the navy, was issued in accordance with a referendum vote of the officers of the navy, a majority of whom are said to have favored the action. The secretary states he had become convinced that the general situation under the old regulations in dealing with the deserter, who had desired not to remain in the service, was not tenable. "The navy has no time for the drunkard, be it ashore or afloat, nor for those who in violation of their oath are not present and ready for duty when required," said Secretary Daniels in discussing his order. "Such offenses indicate inherent unfitness for the naval service. Owing to the methods by which men are necessarily enlisted without full knowledge of their past, a certain undesirable class of ne'r do wells enlist. Such men would fail in any vocation of life. Men of this type at present find their way to a naval prison, where they are an expense to the government and a burden, not a help to their families. Hereafter these men will be, as a general rule, simply dismissed and the service freed of their unwholesome influence." The secretary added that order would result in weeding out of the navy "undesirables and raise the general standard of the enlisted personnel. Figures prepared by the secretary show that there are now 1,259 in prisons and disciplinary barracks. The secretary has had the step under consideration ever since he came into office. He announced that the navy now had practically a full quota of enlisted men.

"The opportunity to travel, secure an education and to win promotions heretofore not possible," said the secretary, "have contributed to make the service in the navy attractive to the best class of young men. It is therefore deemed a suitable time to put an end to imprisonment of young men who desire to leave the service. We can get plenty who love it and will be an honor to it."

ORDERS WAYNE TRACE SUBWAY

State Utilities Board Gives Direction for Grade Separation.

County Attorney E. G. Hoffman has laid before Messrs. Butt, Schwier and Black, of the board of county commissioners, the order from the public service commission of Indiana for the separation of grades at the crossing of the Pennsylvania and the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton tracks at Wayne trace. The improvement has been pending for near a year and was taken before the public service commission some months ago. That board finds that the crossing at Wayne trace and the railroads, by reason of the frequency of travel, and the number of tracks—six as a matter of fact—to be dangerous to the public, and therefore orders that the tracks be separated from the thoroughfare by a subway so located that it will accommodate Pontiac street. It is to be constructed at right angles to the tracks and is to be 104 feet long with 16-foot wings at each end of the abutments, is to have an opening of fifty feet in width with center supports and an eight-foot sidewalk next to the abutments, and a clear driveway of fifteen and one-half feet. The vertical clearance is to be twelve and one-half feet. The board also directs that the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton track shall be moved to the north in order to provide additional space for the approach to the north end of the subway. The cost of additional real estate to do this is not to be borne by the railroad. The Pennsylvania railroad is to construct the subway and render an account of the cost, 25 per cent of which will be borne by Allen county. The total cost of the work is expected to run from $80,000 to $100,000. The county put on a levy of 1 cent last year to get a fund for this purpose. The city disannexed some territory north of the Pennsylvania tracks to bring the entire work under county jurisdiction.

THE MOUSENEST CHILDREN.

Juveneile Court Will Determine What to Do With Them.

What to do with the Mousenest children, whose latest escapade was a burglarious affair involving the stealing of about $200 worth of merchandise in the city, will be determined by Judge Eggeman in the juvenile court and the board of children's guardians. George Mousenest, aged 6, led a predatory raid by himself and his sisters—Lottie, 4; Roxie, 8, and Minnie, 10—on the corset shop of Madame Catherine, 113 West Wayne street, Sunday, carrying away silk dresses, silk scarfs, silk sewing floss, corsets and other plunder valued at $200. They were found in the barn in the rear of the public library by Detective Sergeant W. F. Pappert. They were inspecting their loot when found. George Mousenest broke a rear window at Madame Catherine's store, crawled in, opened a side door and admitted the other tots. The Mousenest family resides east of the driving park addition and the children, young as they are, have been in numerous escapades. That they are not being properly reared is patent, and new surroundings will probably be found for them. Mrs. Mousenest was in the city court Monday morning with seven tots at her skirts or in her arms. No arrests were made, but the marauding tots were put in charge of Truancy Officer Tom Wilkinson. The stolen property is in custody of the police for the present.

WILL GO BACK IF WAR COMES

Hungarians and Servians in America Much Excited Over Prospect.

New York, July 27.—The one topic of conversation in the Hungarian colonies in the upper and lower east side is the possibility of war. A strong sentiment to return to Hungary has sprung up and men and women declare they would leave at once if news of a foreign foe threatening Hungary is reported here. A committee has already been organized to form a volunteer regiment from this city. It was estimated today that there are close to 200,000 Hungarian reserves in this country and about 15,000 of them are in this city. Servians here are awaiting news of the war cloud and apparently are as ready to return to their native country as are the Hungarians. Of the 100,000 Serbs in the United States it was estimated that 1,000 live in this city.

At a gathering of 10,000 Germans yesterday to celebrate the thirty-first anniversary of the Allied Societies of Brooklyn, a cable dispatch was ordered sent to the emperor congratulating him on the stand Germany had taken in the present crisis. The dispatch expressed the hope that a happy solution of the questions involved would be found without resorting to war.

SERBS HOLD MASS MEETING.

Chicago, July 27.—A large contingent of the 20,000 Servians in Chicago probably will return to their colors to fight if war is declared with Austria-Hungary, it was sai dtoday after a number of enthusiastic meetings had been held in the foreign district. Many Germans will go home to fight if their country is involved. Every German in this country who is on the reserve list is under moral obligation to his flag, according to the German consulate in this city.

A mass meeting of young Servians was celled today to raise funds and plan for the sending of soldiers from this country.

READY AT CLEVELAND.

Cleveland, O., July 27.—Six thousand trained Hungarian soldiers will go from Cleveland to take up arms for their country against Servia on the first call to arms, it was said here today by leaders of the local colony. All are members of the first reserve of the Austro-Hungarian army and are associated with sixty-two national Hungarian societies in Cleveland. It was said the greater part of the volunteers could be sent from Cleveland within three days after the call to arms was issued.

AUSTRIANS AT PITTSBURG.

Pittsburg, July 27.—Six thousand Austrian reservists residing in the Pittsburg district were today notified by Baron Lother von House, Australian consul here, of the impending European war and the mobilization of the Austrian army. The remaining 12,000 Austrians in this district are expected to hold themselves in readiness and put their private affairs in order so that they may answer the next call. Included in the reservists here is Lieut. Victor Krenner, vice-consul.

BANK EMPLOYES ENJOY A PICNIC

German-American Force is Guest at J. B. Wyss Farm Home.

The annual picnic of the German-American Bank and Trust company was enjoyed by all who participated in the event Sunday. Automobiles left the city at 8:30 o'clock for the John B. Wyss farm in Pleasant township, where the day was spent in a most enjoyable manner.

The feature of the day was the ball game between the bank department and the trust company, in which the trust company came out victorious by a score of 8 to 11 after one umpire had been discarded on account of dissatisfaction. W. H. Shambaugh was captain for the bank team and Wallschmidt and Klaehn were its batteries. The batteries for the trust company's team was Disser and Herrman and the captain was Theodore Wentz. Theodore Thieme was the first umpire, but retired in favor of W. H. Shambaugh, who quit the game to get the position.

Other athletic events, including a horseshoe contest were staged during the afternoon. At dinner time all partook of the fine lunch which they had taken with them, followed by after-dinner stories and speeches. For those that did not take part in the ball game other diversions were furnished and everyone reported having a time of his life.

IN THE CHURCHES

DELIVERED STIRRING SERMON.

Rev. Martin Anstey Gives Masterly Address at First Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Martin Anstey, secretary of the Christian Missions in London and who Sunday morning occupied the pulpit at the First Presbyterian church in the place of Rev. H. B. Master, who is spending the summer vacation at the lakes, delivered a masterly and stirring sermon on the work being done in the underworld in the largest city of the world.

One of the strange things of the services was that a pistol and a jimmy adorned the pulpit while he was delivering the sermon. The occasion for the exhibit of these two weapons was his story of the conversion of a Jew whose sister had been sent to prison for some unjust reason. This injustice embittered her brother and he started out to be a criminal. However, after following this sinful way for some time he came in touch with a mission and was converted by hearing the story of the prodigal son, which he thought was the story of his own life.

The speaker told of many instances in which the missions had brought some of the worst criminals to Christ and told the story of their lives. The sermon was one of immense power and was given rapt attention by the congregation.

THE SENTINEL'S LIVE SPORTS CRISP RELIABLE

FORT WAYNE DUE FOR REAL TRIAL

Dayton Here for Three Games and Varnell Day Ceremonies.

Claude Varnell's battling Billikens are due for a real acid test in the next three days in a series with Dayton, and local fandom will have a chance to see whether the club is equal to holding its own with the leaders in the Central league flag race.

Harry Martin anr his men are going at top speed now and putting on a line of baseball that is really worth while, and has climbed from a bad fifth to a pretty secure hold on third place and in doing this has shown strength that is a gratifying surprise to the owner and to the patrons who have stuck faithfully through the season under circumstances that sorely tried their loyalty.

Grover Cleveland Young, pitching impressaario, is in turn for the opening affair on the lot on Tuesday afternoon and in this connection it is due this promising hurler to say that he has shaken off the ill luck that beset him from the time he joined the club until his last few starts. He has shown good form all along but the breaks went against him for a long time and he lost games that rere real heart-breakers.

Bill Cramer is next on the list and unless there is some sort of a slip he will have the honor of hurling the Varnell day contest. He is a popular pitcher with the home crowds and the fact that he is to work insures a battle for the Vets.

Fred Bramble will pitch the final game. He has shown that he is a hard man to beat, and with Atkins, who is also working true to his best form, in reserve there is no reason why the locals should not take two of the three games.

Fred Bratchi fell in the Saturday game and injured his left wrist and hand, and was out of the Sunday engagements, but a day of rest will probably mend his hurts and make him ready for the Dayton series. Minwegan is due and he will be given a trial so that the other men on the staff can rest up a bit.

JAKE HOLDERMAN CENTURY HITTER

First of Local Players to Reach Hundred Mark at Bat.

Jake Holderman is the first of the Billiken batsmen to reach the century mark in the hitting list and was the only member of the Martin troupe who has made as many as a hundred hits when the statistics were compiled.

Tommy Sheehan and Emil Grefe, of Terre Haute and Evansville, respectively, lead in the number of safe drives with 116, and Ray Spencer, who is the slugging member of the Veteran corps, is following with 114. Clemens and DeHaven, two of his running mates, are coming along, and Springfield is the only club that is not represented in the list.

Ted Anderson was within a hit of the mark, with a number of other players so close that they needed but a slight rally to get inside the fold. The records are as follows:

DOWNS AND OUTS TO GET TICKETS

Fifty Purchased for the Fellows Who Have Been Good Sports.

In sportdom ill health, bad luck, dissipation, idleness and a dozen other causes leave a trail peopled with fellows who have been good fellows in their times but who are incapacitated and who cannot dig down into their wallets and come across with coin for baseball tickets or for anything else but the barest necessities.

In sportdom there is always also a deep feeling of sympathy for these fellows, no matter whether they have been wrecked on the sea of dissipation or have been victims of luck and ill health. Many and many a one of them is sneaked into a ball game by player or attache and they are always grateful.

There is in Fort Wayne an ardent baseball man, a man who knows the game and who has had a few tosses himself in the seas of adversity. This fellow wanted to do something for the other fellows who have not been able to stem the tide, so he purchased fifty tickets for Varnell day and gave away fifteen and placed thirty-five with Secretary Bert Dennis, who will distribute them among the worthy downs and outs.

This will be done quietly and without embarrassment. Lots of these fellows have nothing left but their pride and they do not want to be put to the necessity of making public the fact that they are broke so fifty of them will be taken care of.

One fan will pay a full entrance fee for every employe at the park on Varnell day and another will pay a full fare for every boy that gets a ball knocked outside of the park.

Members of the committee got together again today, and they believe that the sale of tickets will reach 2,000, not counting those that will be purchased at the gates.

Two days are left in which to make a strong finish and the hustling committeemen expected when they started out Monday to make every minute count. The great work they have done so far indicates that the project is in excellent hands and that it will be successfully carried through.

The registers at the Robison park turnstile show that 8,585 people visited the resort Sunday. This number does not include those who entered the park in automobiles or through the farmer's gate.

AFTER ANOTHER FLAG.

Joe Cantillon.

Joe Cantillon, leader of Minneapolis, still is battling them in the association and striving to bring another pennant to his city. He hasn't changed a bit since he was the star umpire of the American league, and as many players claim, the best umpire that ever gave decisions. The new photograph reveals the fact that someone has missed a hit and run signal and also that Joe is gaining in plumpness.

ROOSEVELT GAVE MAHER A CHANCE

Prevented Policeman from Stopping Fight in New York.

(By Howard Carr.)

(Note—Mr. Carr is known as "Kid" Howard, and is also known in Fort Wayne. He has been at several of the mills staged here and was last seen in the ring as manager of Tony Caponi when he fought Glen Coakley).

Col. Theodore Roosevelt never claimed to be heavyweight boxing champion of the world, but he won that title once—not for himself.

It was when Roosevelt was police commissioner of New York during the Horton law days, and there was scarcely a fight of importance he did not attend, and when Maher and Choynski were matched in 1896 Col. Roosevelt and I sat together to watch the fight. He didn't know it—but I was there in the box with him and saw him whip Choynski, the toughest luck fighter in the history of the ring.

In tha particular year Mr. Roosevelt was ripping up the "department" from end ot end. ...o erring or grafting "copper" was safe, for none knew at what time Roosevelt would "can" him.

Peter Maher, the pride of Ireland, was billed to meet Joe Choynski in a twenty-round bout at the Broadway Sporting club. Not only was "Panther," as he was familiarly called, a great card but it was figured that he had an excellent chance of becoming the world's champion.

Nasty stories of the crookedness of the affair had got to the colonel's ears during the day and he was asked several times if he was going to allow the contest to take place. To these questions Roosevelt replied: "I shall be at the ringside myself and I can easily tell when two men are not trying honestly when they have gloves on their hands."

And so it was that on that eventful night the writer, then a youngster, had a chance to study the great statesman.

As a second in the main preliminary bout I had an opportunity of getting in the ring. When the last round was over instead of going on through to the dressing room I slipped into a vacant box on the right hand side of the ring and breathlessly awaited the coming of the big men.

I had just settled comfortably in a corner of the box when there was a stir and a murmur from the big crowd and an usher said:

"This way, gentlemen!" and at the same time yanked me by the ear out of the box.

"Here son, you just stay where you are," said the colonel to me, and the usher let go of my ear.

The colonel's interest was keenly awakened as the fighters climbed through the ropes.

Clang went the gong, and both men stepped briskly to the center of the ring. Choynski assumed a crouching attitude with his long left stuck straight out before him. Peter, on the other hand, stood straight up with his right arm held high. Both men sparred and very little damage was done.

The colonel had by this time snugly ensconced himself and was interestedly eyeing both fighters.

Again the bell rang. There was no fiddling or feinting when the men met this time. Joe banged his long left flush on Peter's nose. Maher came back with a vicious swing on Choynski's left ear. The punch was a terrific one and landed a bit too far back to topple Choynski. The force of the blow, however, made Joe quiver. He recovered enough before Maher could land again and towards the latter part of the round he had the face of Peter cut and bleeding from the visitations of his terrible left.

The third and fourth rounds were terribly hard fought and several times Choynski had Maher on the verge of a knockout, but every time the Irishman was apparently "all in" he would let go with his terrible right and slow up Choynski.

It was in the fifth round that the colonel's part came.

Sarcely thirty seconds were left of the round when Choynski shot a smashing left hook on the square chin of the Irishman. Joe followed the punch with a terrific right flush on the ear and Maher sank to the floor. Slowly the referee began to toll off the seconds that would mean defeat and oblivion to the representative of Ireland.

The blue eyes of Maher were half closed and glassy as he lay prone on the canvas. Choynski stood over him with a half smile, and through his bloody lips the white of his clenched teeth could be seen.

The referee called "nine" and in another second Maher would have been counted out—bang, went the bell, and for the time being Peter was saved.

As Maher's second dragged his prostrate form to his corner a captain of police was seen climbing up the little steps in the Irishman's corner. Roosevelt saw him quicker than any man in the arena.

"Where are you going?" he demanded, in tones of authority. The captain turned and saluted his superior.

"I am going to stop this bout," said the official.

"You are going to do nothing of the sort," exclaimed Roosevelt. Just then the bell rang and Maher was pushed from his corner fully recuperated and as fresh as ever.

Bang, crash went the hard fists against the body of Choynski. Suddenly, in a fierce mix-up over near the colonel's box, Maher shot a right hand punch straight on the long jaw of the Californian. Joe fell forward with his head on Peter's chest.

Peter stepped back, measured Choynski at arm's length and with all the strength in his body let go with his famous right hand wallop. The blow landed flush on Choynski's chin point. His knees went from under him, the blonde-topped head went forward and he fell a limp mass at the feet of Maher before Roosevelt's very eyes, an unconscious and beaten fighter.

"You see," said the colonel to his pale-faced and nervous friend as they both prepared to leave the clubhouse, "a man is never beaten until he's counted out," which has been unquestionably proven in the colonel's strenuous existence.

UTRECHT UP ONE TIME WITH CUBS

Had Trial With Henry O'Day's Outfit and Kicked on Setback

Mr. Utrecht, who debutted at Lexington park in the Sabbath bargain bill afterpiece, and southpawed his way to a thrilling 3 and 2 victory over the climbing Billikens, once had a trial with the Cubs and made the spring training trip with Henry O'Day and his outfit of young Bruins.

He was pronounced good but not quite good enough for the National league going and it was determined to send him back for seasoning. The fact that he had been picked up by a major league team gave him an exaggerated idea of his ability and he announced that he was through with the game and would renounce forever and a day the yoke of servitude that promised him from $2,000 to $4,000 a year, and become a free man at $3 a day and only tweve hours' work.

Later he changed his mind and went to the Maysville, Ky., club and worked his way back to a class B league and on his comeback he put on an impressive line of hurling and luck stayed with him, although it slipped badly in the ninth frame.

The performance of the afternoon, like most double bills, went fifty-fifty. In the opener Freddie Bratchi was started against "Tuck" Turner but the Springfield spitter's moist heaving was not up to his usual standard and he was yanked in the third and made way for Ray Clark. If he hadn't been derricked the first game would probably have gone to the statutory 6 o'clock Sabbath day limit.

Mr. Bramble had his repertoire all slicked up for the Sunday going and he used it to such good advantage that the wandering Reapers gleaned only four safe drives off his delivery and not one reached the home plate after a tour of the bases. Consecutive, sustained and timely bingling in the first and second innings of the game gave the home troupe a lead that made it impossible for the enemy to overcome the big handicap of half a dozen runs and the game became tiresome.

In the second affair luck broke against Francis M. Atkins after he had put on a superb line of hurling under the most trying conditions. He breezed merrily through to the sixth inning when things began to happen to him. Utrecht was the first man up and went out. Mike O'Day hit to left and ran past first in an effort to make the blow count for two sacks. The ball was relayed to Brant and he threw wild trying to get O'Day and the runner took second.

Umlauf hit to right but the ball was returned too fast for O'Day to make more than one station. Reilly was struck out in a battle in which he went to three and two and fouled off a couple. Dietrich rolled a grounder down third base line to McLafferty and it looked like the danger was all over but the home mail sacker threw wild and two runs scored. Dietrick took second and scored on Stanley's double.

A ninth inning rally was started by Holderman, who beat out a bunt and registered the second hit of the game. Dietrich fumbled Bramble's offering and Streeter hit to right for two sacks, sending over a couple of runs. Beyers went down easily, second to first, and Nespo hit a grounder that got by Reilly but Umlauf backed up the play and by a speedy throw nicked the runner and closed up the game.

UNCLE SAM'S CASH WILL HELP AGAIN

Federal Treasury to Make $34,000,000 Available for Crop Moving.

Washington, July 27.—Money from the federal treasury will be deposited in national banks throughout the country again this fall, to facilitate the movement of crops and promote business generally. Secretary McAdoo announced last night that he would put out appoximately $34,000,000 and that he stood ready to increase the amount to any extent necessary to meet the country's needs.

The secretary's estimate of what will be needed is based upon replies from five thousand national banks to a recent treasury department circular asking whether any unusual demand for money was expected this year and for what purposes. Last year the department inaugurated the custom of distributing funds in the crop handling centers, depositing about $35,000,000 of the $50,000,0000 Secretary McAdoo had decided to use for the purpose.

A statement from the department last night said:

"These replies (from the national banks) have been carefully analyzed and fully confirm the optimistic bulletins of the agricultural department as to the prospects for unusually large crops. They also indicate a decided promise of greatly improved business conditions and enlarged business activities throughout the country. The concensus of opinion of the bankers, is that it will be of great benefit to the crop movement and to business generally if the secretary will deposit government funds in the leading cities of the country, as was done last year.

"The replies indicate that government funds will not be needed in the New England and eastern states and in certain states in the west and northwest and in California. Bankers in the following cities expressed the opinion that no government deposits will be needed in their localities during the crop moving season: Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati, Ohio; Indianapolis, Ind., Minneapolis and Duluth, Minn.; Milwaukee, Wis.; Portland, Ore.; San Francisco and Los Angeles, Calif.; Tacoma, Wash.; Salt Lake City, Utah; Jacksonville and Tampa, Fla., and Mobile, Ala. Some of these cities asked for and received crop moving allotments last year. If it should develop that they or any of them, require deposits, their applications will be given consideration."

National banks in Evansville and Fort Wayne, Ind., were among those which indicated their desire for crop moving deposits and government funds, the total of which aggregates $34,000,000.

PIZARO'S HEALTH CAMPAIGN IN FORT WAYNE

THIS ODD WESTERNER'S NEW DISCOVERY, CLEANSING THE HUMAN BODY OF DISEASE AND INTERNAL PARASITES.

Men, Women and Children Snatched from Death Where Hope Was Gone—Tell How They Were Cured When Nothing Seemed Left to Live For—Many Visit Office at 215 W. Berry St.

Pizaro, the evangelist of health and happiness; the man who claims that most all ailments of the human body can be traced to weakened and degenerated stomachs, seems to be attracting an unusual amount of attetnion in Fort Wayne. He is enjoying an immense sale of his remedies and the headquarters at 215 West Berry street presents a busy scene daily as many people call to investigate and to purchase this new medical discovery that is curing the sick and suffering.

In speaking of his success in Fort Wayne Pizaro said: "It is this way everywhere I go. As I have said before, the stomach caused most of the ill health of this generation. I am successful because my medicine puts the digestive organs in shape and then nature does the rest."

Reports from Hammond, Ind., South Bend, Mishawaka and Goshen, Ind., where Pizaro has been holding forth all spring, tell of wonderful cures performed in all cities.

The following are a few of the many testimonials given by grateful people who have been cured or benefited by this new discovery:

Saved Man's Life.

Mr. Lloyd Stannard, living at 501 East Joseph street, Mishawaka, Ind., relative to the preparation which Pizaro is introducing, Mr. Stannard said: "I suffered with stomach trouble so bad that I could not retain food upon my stomach. I was bedfast and unable to work. I heard of the new discovery and purchased the preparations. I determined to give it a fair trial. Well, it was not very long ago that I noticed a change for the better; within two weeks the improvement began to show itself. I became more active, my mind was made clear. I no longer felt tired. I am now able to enjoy my meals and attend to my work. At present I never have that uncomfortable feeling due to gas on the stomach and my appetite could not be better, and I consider this the best medicine I ever heard of. It is the first time I have ever taken anything that really does what is claimed for it."

In speaking of Mr. Stannard's statement, Pizaro's physician said: "Hundreds of similar cases call at my headquarters daily to see me. I charge nothing for examination and consultation and I treat all chronic diseases of men, women and children, and I will not accept any incurable cases. However, as I have stated repeatedly, my medicine acts directly on the stomach and bowels, expelling from them all impurities and restoring them to a strong, healthful condition. I am convinced that the stomach regulates the condition of the blood and is the fountain head of health and disease, according to the mode of living of the man or woman. My medicine is intended primarily for the regulation of the stomach, but it is no uncommon thing for persons who have used it to come to me and explain that it has relieved them of many ailments not generally recognized as having their origin in the stomach."

Deafness Relieved.

Pizaro asked for the lame, rheumatic, deaf, sick and suffering to come and test his preparation. In response to this liberal offer, Mr. J. James, living at 227 West Pontiac street, who stated he had been troubled with deafness for fifteen years, called. Pizaro's physician applied a peculiar looking medicine and Mr. James could hear a common conversation at quite a distance.

Fort Wayne Woman.

Mrs. Emily May, living at 821 South Clinton street, Fort Wayne, stated that she wanted to thank Pizaro for what his medicine had done for her nephew, Mr. Roy Moore. Mr. Moore had stomach trouble for years; tried many doctors and medicines with results. But after taking just a couple of doses of Pizaro's preparation he expelled a monster tape worm.

This worm measured over 60 feet in length. Mr. Moore is now cured, enjoys perfect health; eats and sleeps good.

Another Woman Cured.

Mrs. Alma Page, living at 222 Michigan avenue, Hammond, Ind., stated that she had suffered untold misery, tried several different doctors and medicines and had given up until I heard of Pizaro and his medical expert. So I went to his headquarters and told Pizaro's doctor to examine me carefully, as my disease had baffled many others. Well, in less than three minutes he told me my trouble and in less than three hours I was completely cured. He told me my trouble was caused from a tape worm and gave me one dose of medicine, told me to go home and await results, and to my surprise my system was relieved of a monster tape worm, which measured over 40 feet in length.

Woman's Statement.

A little woman standing in the audience exclaimed that she had a neighbor lady that was cured of a tape worm which measured over sixty feet in length after taking one dose of Pizaro's medicine. She also said that she was examined by Pizaro's doctor. I was surprised to see the waiting room crowded with people all waiting to see the doctor. I spoke to one lady there and asked her if this was her first visit to the doctor. "Oh, no," was the reply, "this is my third visit. I have been healed of my rheumatism and female trouble. When I first called here I could hardly walk and then only with a cane. See, I can walk now and and don't have to use my cane." Another fond mother remarked that her little son, Albert, was relieved of a handfull of stomach worms after three doses of Cactus Juice. Another old gentleman remarked that he was cured of lame back by Pizaro's preparation. Pizaro, in speaking of these seemingly miraculous cures, stated that in every city he visited his remedies did the same thing and his success and popularity is caused by his medicine curing and benefiting the sick and suffering. I am convincing a mighty lot of people here in Fort Wayne that all's the matter with them is a balky, stuffed up, overworked, weakened stomach and I claim that in from 7 to 30 days my medicine will regulate and make a lazy, degenerated stomach get right down to business.

FREE EXAMINATION AT 215 WEST BERRY STREET

Pizaro's doctor will meet the sick and suffering daily at his office, 215 West Berry street, and give free examination and consultation to all who call.

NOTICE.

No names or addresses of patients are printed without consent of the patient. No confidence violated.

You don't have to wait for years to know whether you are going to get cured. Not even months or weeks. A few days tell the story by this latest, most wonderful medical discovery.

FREE CONCERTS AND LECTURE NIGHTLY.

Pizaro is giving free concerts nightly at his free show grounds, corner of South Calhoun and Creighton avenue.

PROBABLY ASLEEP ON THE RAILS

Fireman Curtis Killed as His Train Waited on Siding at Payne.

HERBERT M. CURTIS.

Herbert M. Curtis, a fireman on the Nickel Plate, was struck by an engine as he was seated on the rail, probably asleep, at 3:35 o'clock Sunday morning, at Payne, Ohio, and so badly injured that he died seven hours later at St. Joseph hospital.

He was firing for Engineer Clarence C. Crosby on westbound freight train No. 35, which was ordered to take the passing track at Payne and give the right of way to eastbound fast freight train No. 52. No. 35 reached the siding considerably in advance of No. 52, and Mr. Curtis left the cab on account of the heat and sat down on the rail of the eastbound track. It is presumed he fell asleep, for he was struck by the engine of the passing train and hurled with terrific force against his own engine.

In an unconscious condition he was picked up, placed on his train, hurried to the city and taken to the St. Joseph hospital. There a thorough examination of his wounds by the company surgeon revealed the fact that he could not recover. His skull was fractured, several ribs were broken and one penetrated the lungs and there were several other bad wounds, but death was due to the fractured skull.

The crew of train No. 35 Sunday night, included besides Mr. Curtis, Engineer C. C. Crosby, Conductor C. D. Snyder, Fireman Samuel Paulson and Brakeman Bert Shondel. Train No. 52, which struck Mr. Curtis, was in charge of Conductor J. C. Fletcher, Engineer Milo R. Snyder and Fireman Ed Houser.

Mr. Curtis was one of the most popular and industrious men in the employ of the Nickel Plate. He was born in Delphos, Ohio, forty-two years ago and came to Fort Wayne when he was eighteen years old. He began service with the Nickel Plate in the capacity of a caller a number of years ago and has since served in various capacities, included being engine inspector, clerk and night foreman of the round house. Two years ago, at his own request, he was transferred to the road department and up to the time of the accident, fired on through freight trains, a good portion of the time with Engineer Clarence Crosby. He possessed a jovial disposition and an aptness for making friends and acquaintances, and it is said that no other man in the employ of the company could recall the names and identify men to a greater extent than Herbert Curtis. This made him valuable as identification clerk on pay days, and he usually served in that capacity. Last Thursday and Friday he was at the depot identifying the engineers and firemen who applied to Agent C. A. Pritchard for their pay checks.

Mr. Curtis is survived by the widow and three children, Lerene, aged 12 years; Genevieve, 10 years old, and Howard, 7 years old. Other surviving relatives are a brother and two sisters, Lawrence Curtis and Mrs. Daisie Riley, of Fort Wayne, and Mrs. Sadie Kennedy, of Buffalo. He was a member of Anthony division, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, and of lodge No. 376, American Yoeman, which orders will have charge of the funeral. The latter will be held from the house, 1422 Sherman street, Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Rev. C. O. Shirey, of Bethany church officiating. Interment will be at Lindenwood.

THE BOWSER EXCURSION.

Oil Pump Concern Will Entertain Its Employes at Winona.

S. F. Bowser, president of S. F. Bowser & Company, Saturday completed negotiations with the Pennsylvania for train service on the occasion of the annual outing at Winona of the employes of the company. Saturday, August 8, is the date of the big event. Two trains will take the party to Winona, one leaving the city at 8 o'clock and the other at 8:30 o'clock in the morning. Each employe will receive a ticket for himself or herself and the married men will be given one for their wives. It is expected that over 1,200 tickets will be given out and it is announced that the Bowser company will also pay the entrance fee into the Winona assembly grounds. The first excursion enjoyed by the Bowser employes at the expense of the company was twelve years ago and there has been one each year since, with increasing attendance in accordance with the increase of the forces at the big plant. They are always enjoyed by the employes, because their time continues the same as if they were at work at the plant and because they are given on Saturday, thus bringing two days of rest together.

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR ELKS.

Several Hundred Will Go to Defiance Next Week.

Negotiations between the Elks and the Wabash company has resulted in a contract to send a special train out of Fort Wayne about 2 o'clock next Monday, August 3, to carry several hundred Elks to Defiance. Next week is home coming week at Defiance and the management has invited the Fort Wayne Elks to go down there Monday and assume charge temporarily of the affairs of that hustling city, at least as relate to the home coming week. Returning the special train will leave Defiance at midnight and reach Fort Wayne about 1 o'clock Tuesday morning.

THREE SHOPMEN INJUREED.

There were three personal injury cases in the Pennsylvania erecting shop, two of them this morning, but none serious. This morning while taking a sand dome from an engine, a portion of it came loose and fell, striking E. W. Wermeyer on the forehead and cutting a three inch gash. Machinist D. S. McKendry was engaged in removing the frame of an engine this morning, when the wedge flew out and struck him in the face, breaking the bones of his nose and inflicting some bruises and cuts. Dr. Budd VanSweringen attended these men. H. L. Collis had a hand injured several days ago, but did not consider it serious until yesterday. When the swelling refused to go down, he called in the company surgeon and the discovery was made that three of the bones are fractured. The injury will disable the man for some time.

DISCUSSING FREIGHT CAR BILLS.

C. E. Thiele, general car inspector of the Southwest system; A. W. Parks, chief motive power clerk of the Vandalia, of Terre Haute; O. J. Parks, chief car inspector of the Northwest system, and W. L. Wilt, chief clerk of the Northwest system, are holding a conference in Fort Wayne today over clearing house freight car bills. The question is an important one to motive power men.

Cost Clerk A. J. Buchheit, of the Fort Wayne Electric works, entered upon a two weeks' vacation this morning. He will spend the most of the time at home.

BOUGHT THE GINTY COTTAGE.

Yard Conductor Dennis Hayes, of the Wabash, has purchased the M. O. Ginty cottage at Rome City, and is occupying it with his family at present. Mr. Hayes entered upon a two weeks' vacation yesterday, when he went to Rome City to fix up his cottage. Conductor Ginty, since assuming charge of one of the Pennsylvania Broadway limited trains, with run between Chicago and Crestline, has been making his home in Chicago and can find no time to spend at Rome City. Hence, his disposal of the cottage.

OUT ON TRACK INSPECTION.

At 12:40 o'clock this afternoon, on the division special train, the Pennsylvania officials started upon a track inspection trip over sub-division C. They inspected the eastbound track to Crestline this afternoon and tomorrow will inspect the westbound track from Crestline to Fort Wayne. In the party are Supt. W. M. Wardrop, Chief Clerk Robert Learmouth, Trainmaster C. L. Hamman, Division Engineer Harvey Hall, Division Operator H. B. Reynolds, Master Car Builder J. A. Graham, Master Carpenter D. C. Zook and Assistant Road Foreman of Engines R. J. Lyons.

JUST 1,936 IN PARTY.

The conductors on the excursion trains to Cedar Point last Saturday collected 1,865 full fare tickets and seventy-one half fares, making the total number 1,936. En route home, one of the trains was annulled and only three were used in handling the crowd. The excursion was enjoyed by all and the trains made scheduled time going and coming.

HEAVY TRAVEL EAST.

Every road in the city is handling a big eastbound passenger business out of this territory. "Our ticket sales to eastern points for the past two months have exceeded the sales of the same period a year ago," said District Passenger Agent W. H. Shorey, of the Wabash. Other through lines are enjoying the same experience.

FOOT BADLY INJURED.

Donald Leverton, clerk for Foreman Joseph Slater, of the Bass blacksmith shop, uses crutches in navigating the shop and in going to and from the office. Friday, while engaged in taking inventory of stock at the shops, a big drill dropped upon his left foot and broke one of the bones.

WOP BOSS GETS BEST OF FIGHT

Chases His Crowd Behind Him and Whales Pair of Intruders.

"I knock one man down when he try to hit me over head with shovel and I knock other fellow down when I get hit in back my head with stone. That's all I do; nothing else."

This was the short and simple annal of a fight in the Lake Shore freight yards, Saturday afternoon, as told by Tom Darges, who, with George Brown, was tried in the city court Monday morning for disorderly conduct on charges sworn to by Joseph Mathison. Tom was boss heaver with a gang of wops engaged in unloading a car of track material and Mathison and a man named Miller were employed near by unloading a car of cracked stone. Somebody said something offensive to the aliens and they poured out of their car. Mathison and Miller tried to drive them back, arming themselves with stones. Boss Darges took charge of proceedings and knocked both of the men from the other car down and police were called. After hearing the testimony and finding that the principal witness for the prosecution had come to court with a breath redolent of beer and booze, Judge Kerr announced that the whole bunch should have been prosecuted and let the two foreigners go.

Crooked Man Tells a Crooked Tale.

John Grins and Fred Smith, two loiterers arrested Saturday evening by Detective sergeant Immel, had five pounds of plug tobacco. Grins said he had found it on the Wabash track soon after dropping from a Wabash train inside the city limits. On both men were found papers that indicated they were not the persons they claimed to be and they were locked up. Grins admitted he had once been arrested in Terre Haute for larceny. Judge Kerr fined each of them $10 and costs and they went to jail.

Other City Court Cases.

Phil Niees, Bob Martin, Frank Marlot, Fred Ellsom, Edward Kelly, Bill Hicks, William Scott, Ivan Cedarwill, Arthur Webster, James Nolan, John Campbell and Art Litton, all drunks, and Tom Hanley, a loiterer, were turned loose.

Mike Koehler, who raised a disturbance in the board of works office Saturday afternoon and was taken over to police headquarters by Street Superintendent Herman Strodel, was tried on a charge of disorderly conduct and given an indefinite continuance.

Steve Howard, a colored vag who has been begging about the streets for several days, was given $5 and costs and went to jail.

Jim Cass, an Indian, took on a cargo of firewater and made a rough passage to his boarding house and went down just outside of port. He was given $1 and costs.

William Brocking, a demented man held on a loitering charge, was continued until August 1.

Harold Sargent, 2809 John street, was fined $10 and costs and given a suspended sentence of thirty days on a charge of assault and battery on his wife. Sargent sued for divorce a week ago, making sensational charges of physical violence against his wife. It was shown by the testimony of a small but bright lad of the neighborhood that Sargent had struck his wife. An appeal was taken.

Harold Fryer, charged with neglecting his child, was shown to have wed his wife, Eva Fryer, under pressure October 17, 1913; that he was defendant in a suit by which his wife got a divorce April 5, 1914, and that he became a father June 9, 1914. He was arrested at Lima, O., and brought back here. He never saw his child until it was brought by its mother into court. Judge Kerr gave him a chance to make good.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, July 27.—Although war tension carried the wheat market today decidedly higher, the excitement in the pit was far from being equal to that of Saturday. There was a general rush to buy, but it was noticeable that the orders notwithstanding being much more numerous than usual, were as a rule for comparatively small amounts. After opening ½c to 2@2½c above Saturday night, the market held firm at around the top figures reached.

The close was nervous at the same as Saturday night to ⅝c advance.

Corn strengthened with wheat. Hot dry weather counted also against the bears. The opening, which was ⅜c to 1⅛@1¼c higher, was followed by some additional gains.

The close was steady at the same as Saturday night to ⅝@¾c up.

Absence of hedging allowed oats to rise like the other cereals. Trading, though, lacked volume.

Shorts in provisions found offerings meager and were forced to bid up the market. Advancing quotations for hogs seemed to make sellers wary.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, July 27.—Losses of from two to four points were registered in the course of today's early trading on the stock market. Prices of Americans in London were down that much or more and the seriousness of the Servian situation coupled with new developments in Austria, contributed to a demoralized condition at the British metropolis. Continental exchanges were even more panicky, according to advices, and Vienna ordered a cessation of operations until Thursday. The weakest feature here was Canadian Pacific, which opened with a drop of over three points. Other shares in the international group were down one to two points and trading was of the most active and feverish character. Foreign selling was again a factor.

Trading in the first hour was in excess of 200,000 shares, of which a considerable part represented urgent foreign offerings. There was some diminution of activity toward the end of the first hour but announcement of further gold exports in large volume was seized upon as a fresh reason to sell. Prices went below those of the first hour and activity in all parts of the list was resumed. The bond market was weak.

Short covering assumed large proportions in the later session, with a material reduction of losses. Steel, Amalgamated and Reading were most prominent in the recovery.

Alarming conditions abroad caused declines of two to four points in the stock market today, with a sharp recovery in the final dealings due to advices of a more hopeful character. The closing was irregular.

DAILY MARKET LETTER.

(J. S. Phillips, Member Chicago Board of Trade, North American Building.)

Chicago, July 27.—Wheat opened higher this morning on war news from Europe and higher Liverpool cables. Selling by foreigners and profit-taking by local longs caused a reaction of about 1c from the top prices. There was a little more easier tone a tthe close on more favorable news as to the settlement of the difficulties between Austria and Servia. Favorable reports as to the big yields of wheat in the southwest and news that they were cutting spring wheat as far the North Dakota line, also had a tendency to hold the bulls in check.

Corn opened higher on the reports of continued dry and hot weather, but sold off on reports of showers and in sympathy with the break from the top prices in wheat. The news was somewhat mixed, there being some very good reports as to the growing crop from some sections and bad reports from other sections telling of the urgent needs of rains.

Oats opened higher and sold off with the rest of the market. The new crop is beginning to move and reports are generally good. The visible supply was as follows: Wheat increased 5,478,000; corn decreased 875,000, oats decreased 182,000.

Prices of stocks at 2:45 p. m. as follows:

WOOLLEN IS NOW A POSSIBILITY

Indianpolis Banker Urged for Federal Reserve Board Place.

Washington, July 27.—Evans Woollen of Indianapolis loomed up Saturday as a possible successor of Thomas D. Jones of Chicago on the federal reserve board slate. Since the senate refused to confirm Jones, three or four names have been considered in the list of availables and to that list the name of Mr. Woollen probably will be added Monday.

Senator Kern, democratic leader of the senate, who has been a loyal supporter of the president on all legislative matters even to the extent of voting to repeal Panama free tolls against his personal inclination, probably will ask the president to appoint Mr. Woollen on the reserve board.

"I have received very strong representations in behalf of Mr. Woollen for this appointment from prominent business men of Indianapolis," said Senator Kern, "and I am inclined to present his name with my indorsement to the president for the place that was tendered to Mr. Jones. I shall first have a talk with the president and see what his views are in regard to the matter. I am very fond of Mr. Woollen and I have a very high opinion of his financial and business ability."

Mr. Woollen has for a good many years been an officer of banking and trust companies in Indianapolis. Senator Kern probably will take the matter up Monday with the president.

WOOLLEN HEARS NOTHING.

Local Financier Says He Has Not Been Consulted on Matter.

Indianapolis, July 27.—Rumors were current in Indianapolis yesterday that Mr. Woollen, who is vice president and counsel of the Fletcher American National bank, will be suggested to President Wilson for appointment to the reserve board. All efforts to confirm the rumors, however, were unavailing. Mr. Woollen said that he had heard nothing whatever of the matter and that Senator Kern had not consulted with him regarding it. There also were reports that the name of Stoughton A. Fletcher, president of the Fletcher American National bank, might be suggested.

Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

Congress of Old Ladies Wednesday, August 5

Seventy-seven old Ladies, ranging in age from 75 to 90 years, registered in the Congress of Old Ladies at Robison Park last year. Massed together in one group, they presented an inspiring sight. Feeble, careworn and seared with the trials of many summers and with the hardships of many winters, they bore mute testimony of unseen battles, successfully fought against sickness, misfortune and untold discouragement. 5,000 women attended Women's Day last year. By their very presence they paid a glowing tribute to the 77 old ladies whose combined ages totaled over 6,000 years. Many who sat in the Congress in 1913 will be absent from the roll call on August 5th, because they have passed to the Great Beyond. Mrs. Amanda Rose, age 91, the oldest woman present last Women's Day writes that she is planning to come to the Congress this year. "It was the grandest day of my life," she says, "and I felt just like Queen Victoria." Mrs. Rose will ride in the carriage with the oldest woman present this year. They will be the Park's guests of honor. Jos. Weick, popular livery man of 1017 Hanna Street will have his finest coach and pair at the Park on Women's Day, so that the Park's guests may be driven about the grounds. Let everyone present show them marked respect.

MARSHALL GETS THAT NEW AUTO

Machine Over Which Much Ado Was Made Purchased at Last.

Washington, July 27.—The vice president's new automobile, for which congress recently appropriated $4,500, was purchased Saturday. It is a sixty horsepower, six-cylinder, seven-passenger touring car and its color is maroon. The price paid was not made public. It is specified, however, in the legislation appropriating the $4,500 that this amount must cover the cost of the chauffeur and upkeep for one year, as well as the purchase price of the machine.

Mark Thistlethwaite, the vice president's secretary, has been charged with the duty of entertaining the automobile agents who have been swarming about the vice president's office for weeks, hoping to land the vice president as a customer, and he breathed a heavy sigh of relief when his ordeal was ended.

The vice president and Mrs. Marshall are planning several trips soon in the new auto, one to Atlantic City and another through the Shenandoah valley.

ELEVEN ARE INJURED.

Indianapolis, July 27.—Eleven persons were injured, none seriously, when two street cars collided in front of the West Washington street barns last night. The collision was caused by an inbound car "splitting" a switch and sideswiping an outbound car. All of the supports holding the roof of the inbound car were broken, letting the top down over the passengers.

Powers Hope to Avert Actual Hostilities Between Austria-Hungary and Little Servia.

ALL EUROPE ON EDGE IN TENSE SCENES

London, July 27.—Glimmers of hope flickered in the darkened sky of European politics today and the wish was general that the efforts of the great European powers to avert a clash of arms which might involve many nations would be successful. While all the powers were preparing for possible eventualities the statesmen with Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, at their head were endeavoring to bring together the governments at issue with a view to mediation.

At the Servian legation in London the view was held that some improvement had taken place in the situation and this was attributed to the influence exercised by Russia. Alex Georgevitch, the first secretary, said: "We have complied with everything that does not impair our sovereign rights. We hope that Austria-Hungary, in the interests of peace, will recognize that consideration is due to an independent state and so avert war. If, however, Austria-Hungary wants war she will have seen that we are prepared to accept it in the interests of the dignity of our state."

Basis of Optimism.

The fact that Austrian ambassadors abroad were willing to meet with Russia led to the belief that an outlet for the deadlock would be found. The stock markets of London and the European capitals still displayed a panicky feeling, although it was not as pronounced as on Saturday.

The mere fact that hostilities between Austria-Hungary and Servia had not begun gave rise to the hope that war might be averted. There was, however, little change in the situation and the more optimistic feeling was largely based on the belief that the German emperor, who returned to Potsdam today from his cruise in northern waters, would throw his influence into the balance in favor of a peaceful settlement of the dispute. Another factor in favor of a peaceful arrangement was that the Austrian ambassador in St. Petersburg had shown willingness to discuss matters with the Russian minister.

No Move Until Tomorrow.

It was said this evening that Austria-Hungary would not move her forces against the Servian capital until tomorrow, which is confirmation of a statement made by the Austrian ambassador in London yesterday—that Austria-Hungary desired to give Servia further time to consider her reply to the ultimatum from Vienna. Outside of Austria-Hungary and Germany the reply sent by Servia is regarded as a very fair one as it grants all the demands which a sovereign state could grant.

It is pointed out that there is little use in Servia appealing for mediation, however, since Austria-Hungary has declared the matter to be between her and Servia and in this she is backed up by Germany and Italy, her partners in the triple alliance. In the meantime all the nations of Europe are making preparations for war, as none of them wishes to be caught napping in case hostilities should break out.

Even England Prepares.

Even England, which is credited with the determination to stand aside unless she should be forced into the conflict, is

GOES TO RESCUE OF BLOOMINGTON

Public Service Commission Aids in Water Supply Problem.

Bloomington, Ind., July 27.—Members of the public service commission were in this city today studying the problem of providing the city with an adequate supply of water. The commission is here as the result of a petition of the business men of the city, asking that it come and investigate the various water sites that are under consideration and make recommendations to the city.

The recommendations will be on the question whether the city needs an additional supply and will not interfere with the work that is being done on the Leonard springs extension to the waterworks system. Work on this extension is being rushed as rapidly as possible, and it is expected the new system will be in use in sixty days.

EXCITEMENT IS INTENSE

Ireland Stirred by Clash Between Soldiers and Nationalists.

CROWD ATTACKS ROYAL BARRACKS

Police Battle All Night to Disperse Throngs After Conflict.

Dublin, July 27.—The city of Dublin and the greater part of Catholic Ireland was today in a state of the greatest excitement over yesterday's conflict between the regular troops of the British army and the Irish nationalists which resulted in the killing of four persons and the wounding of many others, forty of whom were still in hospitals today in a serious condition.

Day had dawned today before the police succeeded in dispersing the crowds marching through the streets singing patriotic songs and looking for soldiers of the second battalion of the King's Own Scottish guard.

Crowd Attacks Barracks.

The crowd finding that the soldiers had been ordered to remain in barracks attacked the royal barracks where the borderers are stationed and clamored for the soldiers to come out. Finally the mob kicked down a gate of the barracks and fired a couple of shots, upon which a bugle was sounded, the police came on the scene and the crowd was dispersed.

The nationalist leaders take the most serious view of the affair and will demand reparation from the government.

The landing of arms yesterday for the nationalists was carried on in a more daring manner than similar feats achieved by the Ulster Volunteers, as

MURDER AT INDIANAPOLIS ENDS ARGUMENT OVER WAR.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 27.—Argument over the war situation in Europe is believed to have been the cause of the killing of George Wise and Austrian by Tom Dorak, also an Austrian, early today. Dorak, who used a long blade hunting knife, is under arrest. There is much excitement in the foreign quarter and the police fear there will be many fights in the quarter. There are about 600 Servians and nearly as many Austrians in Indianapolis, and a number already have made preparations to return to their native countries.

State-Wide Prohibition Issue Will Not Be Submitted.

Dallas, Texas, July 27.—While returns from Saturday's democratic primary still are incomplete, the following results are conceded:

Submission of state-wide prohibition was defeated by a majority from 15,000 to 20,000.

James E. Ferguson, of Temple, anti-prohibitionist, nominated for governor by 30,000 to 40,000 majority.

WILSON WILL BE IN FIGHT

President Plans to Take Active Part in Fall Campaign.

CANDIDATES ARE SEEKING HIS AID

O'Gorman Now Expects Warburg to Appear and Be Confirmed.

Washington, July 27.—President Wilson is laying plans for an active part in the fall campaign. Candidates in several states have urged the president to help them, and while he had given no definite replies they are counting on him to make several speeches.

New York city democrats in the house today offered a resolution to ask for a conference with President Wilson to go over party questions. Representatives Cantor and Levy, who took exception to any interference in the president's policy in any way were absent.

Representative Fitzgerald made this statement: "The delegation decided to request the president to meet the democratic members of congress from New York city for the advancement of the welfare of the democratic party in the state and City of New York."

MAN'S HEAD TORN FROM BODY IN AUTO ACCIDENT.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 27.—Harry L. Crawford, 32, a foreman for a construction company, was instantly killed today when an automobile which he was driving slid over an embankment and overturned on the Fall Creek pike, three miles east of Castleton. John White, 40, had his right arm broken and seriously injured. The men have a camp north of Castleton and were on their way to the city when the machine overturned. Two farmers who saw the accident said when they lifted the machine they found Crawford dead. His head was literally torn off and death came instantly.

NOT YET READY TO END FIGHTING

Constitutionalists and Federals in Skirmish at Soledad.

Vera Cruz, July 27. Reports from various points along the railroad from Vera Cruz to Mexico City indicate that the constitutionalists are not ready to cease fighting. A skirmish occurred at Soledad, where a small federal garrison made successful resistance. The federal commander at Orizba, some distance nearer the capital, refused to grant the demand of a constitutionalist officer that his men be given an hour in which to sack the city in return for placing them in command of a federal officer.

Sixty federal soldiers stationed at Tembladeras, the point where the American train from Vera Cruz was accustomed to stop while the track was broken, are reported to have mutinied and marched to join the constitutionalists near Soledad.

The steamship Buenos Aires with many political refugees from Mexico on board sailed today for Europe from New York.

Can Do Nothing in Present European War Crisis, Says Wilson.

Washington, July 27.—The gravity of the European situation was reflected in an official dispatch from St. Petersburg today saying the Russian minister of war had said he considered war between Russia and Austria almost inevitable.

His statement was made after the Russian ministry had issued an official declaration that Russia was greatly disturbed and could not remain indifferent in the crisis that had arisen between Servia and Austria-Hungary. The order for the complete mobilization of the Russian army was confirmed.

President Wilson said today in answer to inquiries whether the United States would try to bring about peace in Europe that he had not considered the subject, but that the traditional policy of the United States was not to mix in European affairs. He intimated that in the present crisis the United States could do nothing.

THREE PAIR OF TWINS TREATED

Seventeen Babies Brought to Free Station Monday.

Seventeen infants, each suffering from improper feeding, were brought by anxious mothers to the free milk dispensary Monday morning at the First Presbyterian church and among them were three pair of twins. This was the greatest number treated in one day since the milk depot opened two months ago

Those in charge of the work that is being done say that mothers should exercise special care in the feeding of their infants during the extremely hot weather. Each of the babies prescribed for by attending physicians at the depot have shown improvement and one too, considered almost beyond recovery, gained eight ounces in weight in less than a week.

senate banking committee to be questioned as to his qualifications for the federal reserve board. Meanwhile the president is canvassing the field to find a successor for Thomas D. Jones, whose nomination was withdrawn last week.

Since the name of M. Jones was withdrawn the president has communicated with Mr. Warburg, urging him to allow his name to be used and to again reconsider his request that his nomination be withdrawn. Mr. Warburg is understood to be consulting with friends in New York before making his final answer. Chairman Owen of the banking committee telegraphed Mr. Warburg, expressing the wish that he appear, but had received no reply.

Senator Owen said he had been given to understand that Mr. Warburg's name would be withdrawn, but he had not heard it officially.

Senator O'Gorman, returning to Washington after several conferences with Mr. Warburg at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., expressed the belief today that the New York banker would appear before the committee and that this nomination would be confirmed.

BOARD OF WORKS BUDGET PROBLEM

Paving and River Dredging Will Require Two Big Appropriations.

The unceasing demand for street paving and the necessity to carry on an extensive program of river dredging put the board of works face to face with the serious problem of money in making up its estimate of appropriations needed for next year. There has been so far no definite estimate set down for either of these items, but Chairman Frank E. Singrey stated Monday that if the board should undertake to come anywhere near meeting the demand for paving next year not less than $50,000 would be required. This would be about $15,000 less than the total that will have been expended for new street intersections in 1914 when the year's paving program is completed. How much Comptroller W. C. Baade will finally allot to the board for paving is not known. Another $50,000 could be used by the board in river dredging, including the purchase of a suitable dredge and the cost of operation. Mayor Hosey and his board of works believe extensive work in clearing the river channels should be carried on next year and will do the best they can. It is not improbable that some legislation will be necessary to make these operations valid and the board will seek permission from the war department to carry on the work.Added to these two big items are the necessity for some increase in the garbage disposal fund, especially for collection, more money for sewer maintenance and repairs, for the erection of a storehouse and repair shop for the waterworks department, a fire engine house in the Tenth ward and a fireproof building in which to securely house the headquarters of the electric fire alarm system. For the storehouse money may be spared this year from the general fund. It is likely that no abatement of the 10-cent levy for track elevation will be made, though there may be found some such possibility, owning to the fact that the 10-cent levy has run through this year without any drain on the fund.

The board expects to submit its estimates to Comptroller Baade Tuesday, and the entire municipal budget will be sent to the council by that official Tuesday evening.

Comptroller Baade will probably not consent to a larger appropriation for street intersections than $20,000. He thinks that will be enough to start next year's work with and if the condition of the general fund warrants further appropriations for that purpose he says the draft can be made when needed.

ANOTHER TOUR OF INTERCEPTOR.

Examination from Coombs Street to Howard Shows Fair Condition.

An inspection of the interior of the intercepting sewer from Coombs street to Howard, a distance of about 1,800 feet, was made Monday by Ambrose Geary, and one of his men of the sewer department. Conditions were found much better than expected. There is considerable dirt in the drain, but no such accumulation as was looked for. This leads Mayor Hosey and Chairman Singrey, of the board of works, to believe that conditions above Coombs street will be found much better than had been feared. With a pump throwing a five-inch stream the water is being kept well down at the break in the sewer at Howard street and the repair work there is going forward rapidly. The dirt that fell into the sewer when the break occurred and that has since been washed in, is being removed and as soon as that is completed an hour or two of work by the brick masons will serve to close up the hole in the arch.

RUSHING WORK ON SPUR TRACK.

Lake Shore Brings in Forty Carloads of Dirt for No. 2 Siding.

The Lake Shore railroad has brought in forty carloads of dirt from the north to construct the embankment for the spur track that is being run from the Lake Erie main track to the city asphalt repair plant and waterworks station No. 2. The ties and rails have been put down and the work of rearing the embankment will go forward rapidly. The railroad got at the work somewhat later than was expected, but it is believed it will not now take long to complete the track. This spur is 1,100 feet long and 850 feet of this will be owned outright by the city. It will be a great convenience for shipping and storage purposes for all sorts of bulky supplies.

COST OVER $12,000.

Engineer J. R. McKay, of the Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company, has reported to the city engineering department the completion of Wallace street, where the traction company has entirely reconstructed its tracks and restored the street to condition. The track is of standard construction with 2,543.7 feet of single track and 889.5 feet of double track. The total cost of the work, including paving sewer connections, was $12,165.62, all of which is borne by the company.

The board of safety has made up its annual estimate for the comptroller and asks the appropriation of a total of $203,793. The appropriation last year for this department was $184,000. The board's estimates for 1915 are: Fire department, $89,670; police department, $75,829; city scales, $1,006; city sealer, $2,138; market house, $1,350; salaries of board and clerk, $12,200. The board asks for $15,000 to motorize the equipment at No. 1 engine house.

it was effected in daylight. The yacht from which the arms and ammunition were brought ashore already had landed 2,500 rifles and 125,000 rounds of ammunition at isolated points along the coast and these had been successfully distributed by motor cars among the nationalist volunteers.

How Trouble Arose.

Yesterday's attempt was undertaken to show that the nationalists could do what the Ulster unionists had done. At Howth, 2,500 rifles and 250,000 rounds of ammunition were landed under the eyes of the police, the telegraph wires having been cut to prevent communication with Dublin. Automobiles carried off 1,500 of the rifles and all the ammunition and a body of nationalist volunteers then started for Dublin with 1,000 rifles, but no ammunition. The police sent to intercept the volunteers cleared the gun runners and everything seemed to be going smoothly until the battalion of Scottish borderers came on the scene and demanded that the arms be surrendered. The nationalist volunteers refused to give up the rifles and the soldiers then charged with fixed bayonets, wounding a number of the volunteers. While the leaders of the volunteers and the regimental officers were parleying, the rank and file of the volunteers scattered and got away with the rifles. The news quickly reached Dublin and a mob gathered to meet the soldiers on their return. Volleys of stones were thrown at the troops and twenty of the soldiers were ordered to fire. The nationalist volunteers took no part in the street fighting.

The lord mayor of Dublin today demanded in the interests of peace of the city that the battalion of the Scottish borderers be removed. Movements in the barracks indicated that preparations were being made to send the regiment elsewhere. The gates of the barracks were guarded by a strong force of police.

The assistant commissioner of police, who yesterday requisitioned the military, was today suspended from duty, pending an inquiry.

Sixteen policemen, suspended for refusing to obey orders, were placed under arrest and ordered to remain in barracks, but refused to obey.

WILL BE A FULL INQUIRY.

Redmond Makes Demand As House of Commons Session Opens.

London, July 27.—Information as to the "shocking occurrence in Dublin yesterday" as John E. Redmond, the Irish nationalist leader put it was demanded immediately after the opening of the house of commons today. Mr. Redmond was so dissatisfied with the meagre information given him that he moved the adjournment of the house in order to debate the matter.

Augustin Berrill, chief secretary for Ireland, threw the blame for yesterday's conflict between the troops and public on the assistant mayor who had requisitioned the military entirely on his own responsibility. The official consequently had been suspended while an inquiry was made. The nationalist members shouted "he ought to be hanged."

The matter will be debated in the house tonight. Mr. Berrill said the major in command of the detachment of the Queen's own Scotch borderers had given orders to fire on the people.

Mr. Redmond: "He ought to be hanged."

Lord Robert Cecil: "The ministers ought to be hanged."

Mr. Berrill said the soldiers withdrew after several of them had received severe injuries. The officers stopped the firing immediately, but three had been killed and 32 injured. He added there would be a full inquiry.

getting her warships ready. The leave which is generally granted to the crews after the annual mobilization of the fleet for exercises has been cancelled and the vessels are to be kept on a war footing. They began coaling yesterday with the expectation that they would be ordered to the North sea, which would be England's danger point in the event of a European outbreak.

Sir Edward Grey invited the governments of Austria-Hungary, Servia and Russia to suspend operations pending the result of his proposed conference which would be held in London. His suggestion was that the French, German and Italian ambassadors in London should confer with him in the endeavor to find a means of solving the present difficulties. Until late this afternoon he had not yet received complete replies to his proposal.

EMPEROR HURRIES HOME.

But Germany Has Issued No Orders to Her Army as Yet.

Berlin, July 27.—Emperor William, who arrived at Kiel today on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern, proceeded at once to Potsdam on a special train. A large crowd gathered at the Kiel station and as his majesty departed, the people cheered and sang patriotic songs. The emperor will go direct to his palace at Potsdam, where the empress arrived this morning.

The military element in Germany calmly awaits the outcome of the international crisis. It is stated that no orders have been issued to the army in this connection and that the customary furloughs to a proportion of the soldiers in order that they might help in the field work at their homes during the harvest has not been interrupted.

One of the newspapers prints the statement that the German high sea fleet had been ordered to concentrate in home waters, but the German admiralty says no such instructions have been issued and that the ships will remain in Norwegian waters for the present.

The general public in Berlin takes a somewhat calmer view of the situation as time passes without the occurrence of the dreaded catastrophe of armed conflict and on reports of the proposed mediation between Austria-Hungary and Servia.

SERVIAN QUITS VIENNA.

Austria Sets Out Dissatisfaction With Servian Reply.

Vienna, July 27.—M. Jovanovitch, Servian minister to Austria-Hungary, left for Belgrade today.

A communication issued by the Austro-Hungarian foreign office today sets forth the Austrian view of the Servian reply to Austria's note demanding the cessation of the pan-Servian agitation and the punishment of those concerned in the assassination at Sarayvo of Arch Duke Francis Ferdinand and his consort. The communication gives the reasons for Austrian dissatisfaction with Servia's reply.

It was pointed out today that Austria-Hungary being a signatory to the second Hague convention, would be obliged formally to declare war, but as Servia did not sign that convention such a declaration might perhaps be regarded as unnecessary in this instance.

RESUMES ITS HEARINGS.

Mediation Board Begins New Week of Effort at Chicago.

Chicago, July 27.—The federal board of mediation, which is sitting here in an endeavor to adjust the wage dispute between the locomotive engineers of the western railroads and their employers, resumed sessions today in the second week of the hearings. Prospects for a full settlement were said to be dark last week, but nothing authoritative was announced owing to the pledge of silence by both sides. Possibility of agreement rests at present, it is said, on a plan for arbitration under discussion by the engineers during the last three days.

EX-PRIEST SEEKS NEW TRIAL.

Counsel for Hans Schmidt Files Application in New York.

New York, July 27.—Hans Schmidt, one time rector of St. Joseph's church, under sentence of death for the murder of Anna Mueller, whose body he dismembered and cast into the Hudson, formally applied today for a new trial. In an affidavit filed with the district attorney Schmidt's counsel asserts that the girl was not murdered but died after an operation and that Schmidt cut up the body to prevent a scandal and to protect the surgeon who performed the operation. Arguments on the application will be heard Oct. 5.

INVITES HUERTA TO DINE.

Governor of Jamaica Pays Honor to Former Dictator.

Kingston, Jamaica, July 27.—General Huerta was invited to dine with the governor of Jamaica today. HURLS AN ATTACK AT DEAD EDITOR

Caillaux Reads Calmette Documents in Wife's Murder Trial.

Paris, July 27.—When Mme. Caillaux took her seat today in the criminal court at the palace of justice for the seventh day's hearing of her trial for the wilful murder on March 16 of Gaston Calmette, editor of the Figaro, she appeared much calmer than on the preceding days. She had suffered from two fainting spells last night as the result of the severe strain she underwent on Saturday when she swooned during the reading of the letters sent by her to Joseph Caillaux, former French premier, while he was the husband of Mme. Gueydan.

As soon as Judge Louis Albanet and his three associates had taken their seats on the bench M. Caillaux demanded to be heard. He said: "The Figaro having accused me today of suborning witnesses I would like to submit to the court some authentic papers concerning the late Gaston Calmette and relations with the Hungarian government. I have hesitated to use them, but I have decided to do so in view of the Figaro's attitude. I desire also to read the late M. Calmette's will."

Mitre Chenu "How did you get it?"

M. Caillaux "In the same way that you got my letters."

M. Caillaux then proceeded to read the will.

Mitre Chenu "Would M. Caillaux tell us in what way all this excuses the crime of his wife?"

"There are some questions which ought not to be asked," M. Caillaux replied hotly, "but since I am asked I shall answer. There is something perhaps worse than losing one's life: that is to live by attacking women and enriching oneself at their expense."

Testimony in the trial was completed today. Counsel for the defense and prosecution will sum up tomorrow.

NEGRO LAD CONFESSES.

Lagrange Man Badly Injured Following a Drunken Quarrel.

Lagrange, Ind., July 27.—Charles Medlan, who during a drunken quarrel was shot in the breast by his brother Verne with a rifle, is reported today to be in a fair way to recovery. No arrests have as yet been made. The men reside on the old fair grounds near Lagrange, and had been in Rome City Saturday, where they drank heavily. During a quarrel as to which should drive, Verne drew a rifle from under the seat and shot Charles in the breast. Following the shooting Verne drove his brother to the office of Dr. Schrock in this place for examination. While the physician was probing for the bullet Charles Medlan broke away and ran from the office. He later went home.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

SAYS SHE WAS ABDUCTED.

Colored Girl of Fort Wayne Causes Sensation in Huntington.

Huntington, Ind., July 27.—For a time late Saturday evening and Sunday Huntington was said to be the center of an alleged abduction of a negro girl, age 12 years, of Fort Wayne. The girl, Hazel Mathews told the police that she had been coerced to come to Huntington by two white women, who, she said, had promised to take her to Mishawak, where she was to have been given employment.

Mrs. Lena Mathews, a negress of Fort Wayne, accompanied by her daughter, who was said to have been the victim of white kidnappers, asked police to investigate the story told by the girl. Searching about Huntington failed to reveal thee two "kidnappers."

The Fort Wayne negro girl had journeyed to Huntington from Fort Wayne. She said she had been brought to Huntington by two white women, but that she had escaped them.

The abduction tale was discredited by Huntington negroes.

TO IMPROVE LITTLE RIVER.

Huntington, Ind., July 27.—City Civil Engineer Latchem has started a survey of Little River. This is the first step taken by the city administration toward fulfilling the request of 205 leading citizens of Huntington who on June 1 petitioned in the name of the Commercial association that a channel be dug in Little river and that the stream be placed in a condition to eliminate stagnant pools and the resulting stench that in past summers has arisen from the stream. The survey will require three or four weeks.

VAN WERT WOMAN DIES.

Van Wert, Ohio, July 27.—Mrs. Mary Griffith, a highly esteemed resident of this city, is dead after an illness of six months' duration. The deceased, who was born in Delaware county sixty-one years ago, had resided in Van Wert the greater part of her life. She is survived by two sons, Edward Griffith, at home and Joseph Grijth, of Cincinnati. Also several brothers, none of whom reside here. Her husband, the late Benjamin Griffith, died here several years ago.

BIG LOSS WHEN BARN BURNS.

Decatur, Ind., July 27.—During a severe electric storm the barn of D. A. Ross, who resides four miles directly east of the city, was struck by lightning and totally consumed. The barn contained twenty-five tons of new hay, besides various articles and implements and harness. The horses happened to be out in the yard. The lightning struck right where the hay had been stored and the entire building, which was large, was seemingly in an instant enveloped in flames. Nothing could be saved. The barn was insured, but not at all near the loss.

LITTLE GIRL WILL RECOVER.

Plymouth, Ind., July 27. — Mary Stroupe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Stroupe, of Bourbon, who was accidently shot by her brother is improving nicely and her recovery in a short time is hoped for. The little girl, along with her brother, was going after the cows and Mary was walking a short distance ahead of her brother, who was carrying a rifle. Huntington, Ind., July 27.—Henry Wike, a farmer living near the Jefferson-Lancaster township line, lost a valuable horse when it was struck by lightning. The horse was in a stall in the barn, and a lightning rod ran past an open window. It is probable that lightning followed the rod, and jumped to the horse in its course to the ground.

The Governor Says---

"Cut out tea and coffee, my boy. They contain an irritant—caffeine—and you can't have a fluttery heart or sour stomach or a grouchy headache and do big business."

It's a mighty good plan, if tea or coffee puts you "off color," to quit it, and for a delicious table beverage, use the pure cereal food-drink. There is no caffeine nor other harmful substance in Postum.

In either form—Regular Postum, which must be boiled, (15c and 25c packages or Instant Postum, made instantly in the cup with hot water 30c and 50c tins.)

Postum is good in any business.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Acts 27:33-44.

33 And while the day was coming on, Paul besought them all to take meat, saying, This day is the fourteenth day that ye have tarried and continued fasting, having taken nothing.

34 Wherefore I pray you to take some meat: for this is for your health: for there shall not an hair fall from the head of any of you.

35 And when he had thus spoken, he took bread, and gave thanks to God in presence of them all: and when he had broken it, he began to eat.

36 Then were they all of good cheer, and they also took some meat.

37 And we were in all in the ship two hundred three score and sixteen souls.

38 And when they had eaten enough, they lightened the ship, and cast out the wheat into the sea.

39 And when it was day, they knew not the land; but they discovered a certain creek with a shore, into the which they were minded, if it were possible, to thrust in the ship.

40 And when they had taken up the anchors, they committed themselves unto the sea, and loosed the rudder bands, and hoisted up the mainsail to the wind, and made toward shore.

41 And falling into a place where two seas met, they ran the ship aground; and the forepart struck fast, and remained unmoveable, but the hinder part was broken with the violence of the waves.

42 And the soldiers' counsel was to kill the prisoners, lest any of them should swim out, and escape.

43 But the centurion, willing to save Paul, kept them from their purpose; and commanded that they which could swim should cast themselves first into the sea, and get to land:

44 And the rest, some on boards, and some on broken pieces of the ship. And so it came to pass, that they escaped all safe to land.

MONDAY, JULY 27, 1914.

The War on Habit-Forming Drugs.

Muncie, Alexandria and other cities in that section of the state have recently been the storm-center of the war Indiana is making on the sale and use of habit forming drugs. Fort Wayne but a year or more ago displayed considerable activity in this direction, with net results that certainly improved the situation considerably if it did not absolutely eradicate the evil locally. But the Indiana law governing the sale of morphine, heroin, cocaine and similar drugs, model as it is in many respects, shows a vital weakness that must handicap attempts at eradication until it is remedied.

Under the Indiana law agents of the state board of pharmacy can examine the books of wholesale druggists and manufacturing chemists in Indiana and ascertain to whom they have sold the habit-forming drugs, but the agents are powerless against similar concerns outside the state. It is notorious that Chicago sends great quantities of the drugs into Hammond, South Bend, Terre Haute and other Indiana points. It is said that a Philadelphia concern recently sold in Muncie one of the largest consignments of heroin tablets ever shipped in a single lot, and Evansville is credited with securing its supply from across the river in Kentucky.

Until this situation is remedied, any thoroughly effectual warfare on the dope evil in Indiana will be well nigh impossible. Nor can state legislative enactment provide a remedy that will be efficacious. For this reason the recent appeal of reputable Indiana druggists for federal action should receive prompt and favorable attention. There is now pending in congress a bill modeled after the Indiana act, but made nation-wide in its scope, under which it would be possible to keep accurate tab on sales of the stuff wherever it is made. In support of this measure Indian druggists have appealed to the Indiana continent in congress. The authorities should not be denied proper equipment in their war against the dope evil.

The exchange of epistolary crossfire between Governor Ralston and Senator Frank N. Gavit, of Hammond, regarding the manner in which the Lake county recorder's salary bill came to be signed and published as a law without having passed the legislature is intensely interesting. What the Indiana general public most desires, however, is the prompt discovery and the adequate punishment of those who were guilty of putting the fraud over on the governor and on the state.

State primary results in Texas make it apparent that the anti-prohibition forces are still in the saddle in that state, though by a rather surprisingly small margin. But they also show that even Texas is edging over toward the decision which will within a very few years banish booze from the Lone Star state. The showing of the temperance element there constitutes a force that will not long be denied.

It is something of a shock to be told that a good many New York moosers threaten to desert Colonel Roosevelt because of his advocacy of Mr. Hinman as the third party nominee for governor. Still, it wouldn't be so very difficult for a genius of Mr. Roosevelt's calibre to constitute a political party all by himself if the others quit. And he's probably going to do it.

Washington dispatches assure us that the republican members of congress are now so anxious to quit and get home that they are willing to aid the democrats in rushing through the anti-trust program. Since the democrats and the general public have already declared themselves, this would appear to make the thing unanimous. Now let's hurry.

PRESS COMMENT ON NEW HAVEN CASE.

Making Guilt Personal.

Philadelphia Ledger: "The United States is now engaged in the task of making guilt personal. That phase of the New Haven case eclipses in interest the attorney general's suit to dissolve that railroad system."

The Beginning.

Washington Post: "This is the beginning of what will doubtless prove the most far reaching court procedure ever instituted by the government in the case of a corporation alleged to be acting in violation of the federal statutes."

A Little Harsh.

Philadelphia Inquirer: "While we have little respect for the offending railway corporation, the circumstances of the present prosecution are a little harsh."

Ignored by President.

Rochester Post Express: "Interests which the present management of the New Haven has done its best to protect were ignored by the president when he ordered the attorney general to take the case into the courts."

The Criminal Laws.

Philadelphia Bulletin: "Whether or not the directors of the New Haven corporation deemed subject to grand jury proceedings shall agree to a settlement of civil litigation should have no bearing on the enforcement of the criminal laws."

The Public's Verdict.

Washington Herald: "Even as the case of the New Haven directors now stands they are not without argument on their side, but it will have little weight in forming the public verdict."

Not Making War.

Baltimore Sun: "There will be no suggestion that President Wilson is making war upon 'big business' in ordering the attorney general to bring action at once to dissolve the New Haven railroad."

Bad Faith.

New York World: "The directors of the New Haven have evidenced the same kind of bad faith toward the government that they evidenced toward their own stockholders."

SECRETS OF THE SENATE.

(New York Tribune.)

The senate is never more solemnly amusing than when it appoints a committee to apprehend and punish those who betray its secrets. No such committee has ever caught anybody red handed. The real culprits are the senators themselves and for a senate "smelling committee" to convict a senator of betraying official secrets would be an unheard of breach of senatorial courtesy.

A body of ninety six members can have no official secrets. Moreover, most of the alleged secrets concern the public as much as they do senators and ought to be public property. Senators know that they are doing a service in disseminating facts in which outsiders have a legitimate interest. There have been very few senators so stern and unbending, for instance, as not to communicate to a waiting world transactions in executive sessions concerning nominees for office whom they were befriending.

The rule of secrecy must be interpreted with great liberality, even by those who defend it. A senator is entitled to use his own judgment in breaking it. That is the only basis on which it can be enforced. The "smelling committee" headed by Mr. Williams knows this already, but if it ever makes a report it will probably dodge that fundamental fact, whitewash all senators of guilt and put the blame on some dictographic instrument, real or psychological, inserted in the eaves of the senate chamber.

HOW TO KEEP FACE YOUNG AND ATTRACTIVE

The way to ward off old age is not to fear it, not to allow one's self to be oppressed by the dread of advancing years. Use only legitimate preventives and avoid trying experiments with preparations not indorsed by physicians. An entirely safe and very effective way to keep the complexion young looking and beautiful is to apply ordinary mercolized wax at bedtime, using it like cold cream, washing it off in the morning. This gradually absorbs the withered, faded cuticle, which is replaced by the more youthful, pink tinted underskin. One ounce of this wax, to be had at any drug store, is enough to completely rejuvenate a worn out complexion. Crow's feet and other wrinkles, the first signs of advancing age, may be removed by a simple, harmless preparation made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. It is used as a face bath.

WEARS A HICKORY SHIRT IN PULPIT

Alton, Ill., Pastor Commends Members Who Come in Plain Raiment.

Alton, Ill., July 27.—Wearing an old hickory shirt and a pair of striped trousers and coatless, Rev. Dr. D. C. Blunt, pastor of the East Alton Baptist church, opened the services yesterday by commending many of the congregation for conforming with requests for simple and comfortable dress in church.

Several members of the church had suggested that the men wear overalls and jumpers and blue shirts and the women their old house dresses.

The younger set did not respond to the invitation, but many of the older members appeared in simple dress. The services were largely attended, many going from curiosity.

Plain clothes for church wear was suggested following statements by members of the church that their clothes were not good enough to wear at services. Some said they were ashamed to sit beside girls and women in new dresses, Panamas, gay bonnets and other creations.

Dr. Blunt said he would have worn overalls if he had had a pair, but he did not consider it necessary to purchase any when he had several pairs of old trousers.

John Jones and J. T. Paddock first requested that all members attend worship attired simply instead of simply attired.

WANTED—AUTO FOR MULE.

Winstead, Conn., July 27.—That agriculturists are getting the craze for automobiles is indicated by the fact that Roscoe Benjamin, a local automobile merchant, received a letter from a farmer who wanted to swap a fertilizer spreader for a car.

Another wanted to exchange a good mowing machine for a second-hand car and John Hall, of North Colebrook, offered a mule, sound in every respect, for a modern car, little used.

automobile in which she was riding with Marvel Blodgett and Hallie and George Weigel, of 702 High street, struck a big touring car owned and driven by Killian Vorndran, the real estate dealer, three miles north of the city on the Leo road. In the Vordran machine were Nathan Kaplan, L. H. Levonian and Samuel Kessler, all residing at 1215 West Jefferson street, and Carl, Frank and Edmond Vorndran.

The two cars crashed head-on and the car carrying the four young people was hurled into the ditch. Mr. Vorndran stated that he had just passed a small bridge and was at the side of the road when the small car came speeding down the hill. The car remained upright, however. Miss Blodgett was the only one of the four whose injuries necessitated her staying at the hospital, and it is said that she would be able to leave the institution late Monday. None of the passengers in the Vorndran car were injured, but the machine turned completely around in the roadway and the steering gear and fender were broken.

Plunge Into River.

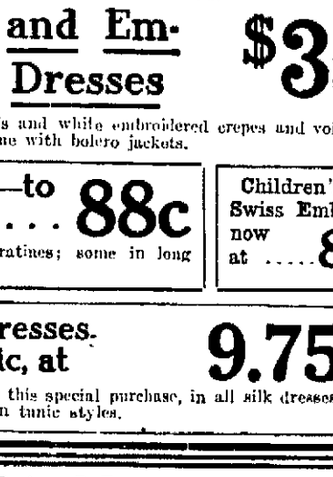
Frank Snarr, a well digger, residing in the neighborhood of Poe, and Mrs. Ezra Hiser, formerly of Poe, miraculously escaped death at 6:30 o'clock Saturday night when an automobile in which they were riding plunged over the Spy Run avenue enbankment, 100 feet north of the State street bridge, and dropped thirty-five feet into the waters of St. Joseph river. The only injury to either was a broken rib sustained by Snarr. Mrs. Hiser was thrown clear of the machine and landed in water above her depth, but managed to scramble to shore and was apparently none the worse for the accident. The car was demolished.

The man stated that he was returning to Fort Wayne from New Haven and had come into town by way of State street and turned north at Spy Run avenue, going to the 2300 block of that street. Later he decided to turn around and come back to the center of the city. The engine stopped as the car was only a short distance from the fence along the river and he got out and cranked the engine, without first having neglected to throw the machine on neutral. The engine started and the car plunged past Snarr, who grasped the brake, and with the woman in the machine and the man holding on to the side, it made the thirty-five foot drop, carrying with it about thirty feet of the fence.

The two were taken to the Wabash depot by Henry Kintz, jr., who resides nearby, and it is believed that they separated there, for the man was seen about town later in the evening.

Two Women Injured.

Mrs. Ethel Shober Fleet, daughter of



MISS IRENE BLODGETT,
Fort Wayne Girl Painfully Hurt in Auto Accident.

Gart Shober, and Miss Agnes Taylor, a friend, were run down by a motorcycle at 2:30 o'clock about sixty feet north of the entrance to Centlivre park, where they were en route to attend the band concert. The machine was driven by Albert Romy. The women were walking near the ditch on the right side of the road and Romy was coming up behind them. Fearing he could not pass between them and an approaching automobile, the young man attempted to ride between the two women. The handlebar struck Mrs. Fleet and the machine swung and struck Miss Taylor in the back. Both were knocked down and suffered injuries that will confine them to their home in Irvington park for some time.

Romy called Henry Kintz, jr., to his assistance and the women were removed to their home and later given medical attention by Dr. E. H. Kruse. Miss Taylor suffered a severe laceration on the head and a sprained knee, while Mrs. Fleet was badly bruised and both suffered from the nervous shock of the accident.

Girl Leaps From Bridge.

Fearing that a train was approaching after some boys had shouted to her from the river bank, Miss Pauline Spaw, aged seventeen years, residing at Coesse, Ind., leaped from the Pennsylvania bridge at Swinney park, over the St. Mary's river and alighted on the rocks twenty-five feet below. Luckily she escaped with only a dislocated shoulder and a fractured wrist. This bridge is the structure where William Newport and his small son were killed a few weeks ago.

Accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bowers and baby, of 1415 Thompson avenue, Miss Spaw was en route to the ball game at League park. The girl's mother, Mrs. Josephine Spaw, was notified of the accident and arrived later in the afternoon.

Burned by Gasoline.

Adrian T. Riggs, 1101 East Lewis street, is in a serious condition, suffering from burns sustained at noon Sunday when a can of gasoline exploded after having been ignited by sparks from defective electrical wiring. He was using the gasoline to clean his automobile.

Mr. Riggs is badly burned about the chest, neck, arms and face and his face is so badly burned that he is unable to open his eyes and it was with difficulty that he was able to tell details of the accident.

He said he was on the opposite side of the machine from the gasoline can and suddenly he was blinded by a strong arc formed by a hanging wire. He rushed to the side of the garage in an attempt to turn off the electrical switch, but the explosion occurred before he was able to get out of the structure. In a flash his clothing was aflame and he first tired to tear off his shirt. Unable to do this he ran from the barn and rolled along the grass until he lost consciousness. His father, attracted by his call for aid, ran to him with several neighbors and were soon able to extinguish the flames. The young man was carried into the house and his injuries were dressed by Dr. Benninghoff. He regained consciousness late Sunday evening and has a chance to recover.

Motorcyclist Injured.

George Welch, 1430 Clifton avenue, suffered a fractured upper and lower jaw and injuries to his back and shoulders at 11 o'clock Saturday night when his motorcycle collided with a buggy on the Leo road as he was returning from Robison park. A man and woman were riding in the buggy and when the vehicle was struck by the machine the horse frightened and ran away and the buggy was demolished but neither the man nor his companion was injured. Louis Steup, of West Jefferson street picked Welch up and brought him to St. Joseph's hospital. Welch said he became blinded by dust and was unable to see the buggy.

Aeronauts Escape.

After it had been lifted fifty feet in the air, a balloon in which George Huebner and William Bierbaum were attempting to make an ascension Sunday at Robison park, fell to the ground and dragged the two men across the chutes, down the river bank, through a grove of oak trees and finally turned completely over about 500 feet from where it started. Neither of the men was injured, but both were badly frightened as it was their first attempt to ride a balloon, and they were unable to leave the big bag to which they had been strapped. As Bierbaum was cut loose from the balloon, it again shot upwards and Heubner, thinking he could make an ascension and drop got back into the trapeze, but he was carried only a short distance and had several narrow escapes from injury in the short flight over the park.

Foreigner is Drowned.

Pasquale Genziano, a foreigner aged twenty-two years, rooming at 406 Bass street, was drowned at 12:45 o'clock Sunday when he stepped into a hole over his depth while bathing in the St. Mary's river, between the South Broadway bridge and the old Esmond dam. His body was recovered by Officer Joseph Degitz and Earl Browning. The man could not swim and immediately went down when he stepped into the hole. Fellow countrymen on the river bank were unable to aid him as none of them was able to swim.

Genziano was employed by the Moellering Construction company and is survived by the parents and three sisters in Italy. Funeral services Tuesday and interment will be made at the Catholic cemetery.

Goes Through a Bridge.

Frightened at a passing street car a horse driven by Elmer Waters, residing near Robison park, ran away on Spy Run avenue at 9:30 o'clock Saturday night and into the street car bridge across Spy Run creek, near Centlivre's brewery. The animal's feet and legs went between the ties of the bridge and it was necessary to extract the horse with the aid of ropes and a tackle. The horse was not injured and after the harness had been repaired, was driven home.

222 GOLF EXPERTS IN GREAT CONTEST

Links at Grand Rapids Are Mecca for Knights of the Brassie.

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 27.—Soon after daylight began streaming over the hills beyond the Kent Country club this morning the elimination round of the western amateur golf championship tournament began. Two hundred and twenty-two contestants prepared to play 18 holes each before dusk tonight.

The sixty-four men turning in the lowest medal scores will compete tomorrow forenoon in the qualifying round of 18 holes medal play. In the afternoon the thirty-two survivors will begin match play, which will continue until Saturday, when a new champion will be made.

Although the former course record 70, which many golfers believed impregnable, was lowered to 69 by "Chick" Evans, of Chicago, in a practice match last Saturday, there were many enthusiasts who believed that today's medal play might shatter even Evans' new mark. The course, although hilly and rather difficult, has been put in good condition by the recent hot weather, and many scores of less than 75 have been turned in since the stars of the western golf world began tuning up for the important event. On account of the unusually large list of entries, it was not possible to play the elimination and qualifying rounds today

Imprisonment for Desertion is Abolished in Time of Peace

Washington, July 27.—Secretary Daniels' drastic order calling for the abolition of imprisonment for desertion from the navy in times of peace was the subject of general comment in naval circles here today. The order provides for the summary dismissal instead of imprisonment of blue jackets who overstay their leave, get drunk while on shore or commit similar breaches of discipline and for the honorable discharge of men who want to quit the service by merely refunding certain enlistment allowances

The new regulations, which are a radical departure from the methods which have heretofore prevailed in the navy, was issued in accordance with a referendum vote of the officers of the navy, a majority of whom are said to have favored the action. The secretary states he had become convinced that the general situation under the old regulations in dealing with the deserter, who had desired not to remain in the service, was not tenable. "The navy has no time for the drunkard, be it ashore or afloat, nor for those who in violation of their oath are not present and ready for duty when required," said Secretary Daniels in discussing his order. "Such offenses indicate inherent unfitness for the naval service. Owing to the methods by which men are necessarily enlisted without full knowledge of their past, a certain undesirable class of ne'r do wells enlist. Such men would fail in any vocation of life. Men of this type at present find their way to a naval prison, where they are an expense to the government and a burden, not a help to their families. Hereafter these men will be, as a general rule, simply dismissed and the service freed of their unwholesome influence." The secretary added that order would result in weeding out of the navy "undesirables and raise the general standard of the enlisted personnel. Figures prepared by the secretary show that there are now 1,250 in prisons and disciplinary barracks. The secretary has had the step under consideration ever since he came into office. He announced that the navy now had practically a full quota of enlisted men.

"The opportunity to travel, secure an education and to win promotions heretofore not possible," said the secretary, "have contributed to make the service in the navy attractive to the best class of young men. It is therefore deemed a suitable time to put an end to imprisonment of young men who desire to leave the service. We can get plenty who love it and will be an honor to it."

ORDERS WAYNE TRACE SUBWAY

State Utilities Board Gives Direction for Grade Separation.

County Attorney E. G. Hoffman has laid before Messrs. Butt, Schwier and Black, of the board of county commissioners, the order from the public service commission of Indiana for the separation of grades at the crossing of the Pennsylvania and the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton tracks at Wayne trace. The improvement has been pending for near a year and was taken before the public service commission some months ago. That board finds that the crossing at Wayne trace and the railroads, by reason of the frequency of travel, and the number of tracks—six as a matter of fact—to be dangerous to the public, and therefore orders that the tracks be separated from the thoroughfare by a subway so located that it will accommodate Pontiac street. It is to be constructed at right angles to the tracks and is to be 104 feet long with 16-foot wings at each end of the abutments, is to have an opening of fifty feet in width with center supports and an eight-foot sidewalk next to the abutments, and a clear driveway of fifteen and one-half feet. The vertical clearance is to be twelve and one-half feet. The board also directs that the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton track shall be moved to the north in order to provide additional space for the approach to the north end of the subway. The cost of additional real estate to do this is not to be borne by the railroad. The Pennsylvania railroad is to construct the subway and render an account of the cost, 25 per cent of which will be borne by Allen county. The total cost of the work is expected to run from $80,000 to $100,000. The county put on a levy of 1 cent last year to get a fund for this purpose. The city disannexed some territory north of the Pennsylvania tracks to bring the entire work under county jurisdiction.

THE MOUSENEST CHILDREN.

Juvenile Court Will Determine What to Do With Them.

What to do with the Mousenest children, whose latest escapade was a burglarious affair involving the stealing of about $200 worth of merchandise in the city, will be determined by Judge Eggeman in the juvenile court and the board of children's guardians. George Mousenest, aged 6, led a predatory raid by himself and his sisters—Lottie, 4; Roxie, 8, and Minnie, 10—on the corset shop of Madame Catherine, 113 West Wayne street, Sunday, carrying away silk dresses, silk scarfs, silk sewing floss, corsets and other plunder valued at $200. They were found in the barn in the rear of the public library by Detective Sergeant W. F. Pappert. They were inspecting their loot when found. George Mousenest broke a rear window at Madame Catherine's store, crawled in, opened a side door and admitted the other tots. The Mousenest family resides east of the driving park addition and the children, young as they are, have been in numerous escapades. That they are not being properly reared is patent, and new surroundings will probably be found for them. Mrs. Mousenest was in the city court Monday morning with seven tots at her skirts or in her arms. No arrests were made, but the marauding tots were put in charge of Truancy Officer Tom Wilkinson. The stolen property is in custody of the police for the present.

READY TO INCREASE SUM.

McAdoo Prepares to Distribute Crop-Moving Funds.

Washington, July 27.—Preparations for the distribution of approximately $34,000,000 of government funds to be dopisted in national banks throughout the country to facilitate the marketing of crops and for other "legitimate business purposes," in accordance with Secretary McAdoo's announcement, were being made today by treasury department officials. While that sum has been decided upon, the secretary stated that he stood ready to increase the amount to any extent to meet the needs of the country.

WILL GO BACK IF WAR COMES

Hungarians and Servians in America Much Excited Over Prospect.

New York, July 27.—The one topic of conversation in the Hungarian colonies in the upper and lower east side is the possibility of war. A strong sentiment to return to Hungary has sprung up and men and women declare they would leave at once if news of a foreign foe threatening Hungary is reported here. A committee has already been organized to form a volunteer regiment from this city. It was estimated today that there are close to 200,000 Hungarian reserves in this country and about 15,000 of them are in this city. Servians here are awaiting news of the war cloud and apparently are as ready to return to their native country as are the Hungarians. Of the 100,000 Serbs in the United States it was estimated that 1,000 live in this city.

At a gathering of 10,000 Germans yesterday to celebrate the thirty-first anniversary of the Allied Societies of Brooklyn, a cable dispatch was ordered sent to the emperor congratulating him on the stand Germany had taken in the present crisis. The dispatch expressed the hope that a happy solution of the questions involved would be found without resorting to war.

SERBS HOLD MASS MEETING.

Chicago, July 27.—A large contingent of the 20,000 Servians in Chicago probably will return to their colors to fight if war is declared with Austria-Hungary, it was sai dtoday after a number of enthusiastic meetings had been held in the foreign district. Many Germans will go home to fight if their country is involved. Every German in this country who is on the reserve list is under moral obligation to his flag, according to the German consulate in this city.

A mass meeting of young Servians was called today to raise funds and plan for the sending of soldiers from this country.

READY AT CLEVELAND.

Cleveland, O., July 27.—Six thousand trained Hungarian soldiers will go from Cleveland to take up arms for their country against Servia on the first call to arms, it was said here today by leaders of the local colony. All are members of the first reserve of the Austro-Hungarian army and are associated with sixty-two national Hungarian societies in Cleveland. It was said the greater part of the volunteers could be sent from Cleveland within three days after the call to arms was issued.

AUSTRIANS AT PITTSBURG.

Pittsburg, July 27.—Six thousand Austrian reservists residing in the Pittsburg district were today notified by Baron Lother von House, Australian consul here, of the impending European war and the mobilization of the Austrian army. The remaining 12,000 Austrians in this district are expected to hold themselves in readiness and put their private affairs in order so that they may answer the next call. Included in the reservists here is Lieut. Victor Krenner, vice-consul.

BANK EMPLOYES ENJOY A PICNIC

German-American Force is Guest at J. B. Wyss Farm Home.

The annual picnic of the German-American Bank and Trust company was enjoyed by all who participated in the event Sunday. Automobiles left the city at 8:30 o'clock for the John B. Wyss farm in Pleasant township, where the day was spent in a most enjoyable manner.

The feature of the day was the ball game between the bank department and the trust company, in which the trust company came out victorious by a score of 8 to 11 after one umpire had been discarded on account of dissatisfaction. W. H. Shambaugh was captain for the bank team and Wallschmidt and Klaehn were its batteries. The batteries for the trust company's team was Disser and Herrman and the captain was Theodore Wentz. Theodore Thieme was the first umpire, but retired in favor of W. H. Shambaugh, who quit the game to get the position.

Other athletic events, including a horseshoe contest were staged during the afternoon. At dinner time all partook of the fine lunch which they had taken with them, followed by after-dinner stories and speeches. For those that did not take part in the ball game other diversions were furnished and everyone reported having a time of his life.

At the completion of the first eighteen, Mr. Brown was three down but picked up from that time and played sensational golf during the remainder of the course. Both the champion and the runner-up are given trophies by the club's president, F. E. Hoffman.

The Kekionga tournament, another of the big golfing events each season at the Country club, will begin next Saturday with the qualifying rounds. The Benson cup tournament, a scratch affair, is to begin September 5.

IN THE CHURCHES

DELIVERED STIRRING SERMON.

Rev. Martin Anstey Gives Masterly Address at First Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Martin Anstey, secretary of the Christian Missions in London and who Sunday morning occupied the pulpit at the First Presbyterian church in the place of Rev. H. B. Master, who is spending the summer vacation at the lakes, delivered a masterly and stirring sermon on the work being done in the underworld in the largest city of the world.

One of the strange things of the services was that a pistol and a jimmy adorned the pulpit while he was delivering the sermon. The occasion for the exhibit of these two weapons was his story of the conversion of a Jew whose sister had been sent to prison for some unjust reason. This injustice embittered her brother and he started out to be a criminal. However, after following this sinful way for some time he came in touch with a mission and was converted by hearing the story of the prodigal son, which he thought was the story of his own life.

The speaker told of many instances in which the missions had brought some of the worst criminals to Christ and told the story of their lives. The sermon was one of immense power and was given rapt attention by the congregation.

Enjoyed Rescue Mission Outing.

Over five hundred people enjoyed the outing given Saturday by the Rescue Mission of Columbia street at Robison park. The mission had engaged four special cars to convey the poor to the park and each one was packed to overflowing. At the grounds a supper was given them and in all everyone enjoyed themselves greatly. Manager Williams of the park gave all the children a free ride on the merry go-round in the afternoon. This outing was carried out under the auspices of Rev. Nipper.

During the day a program in which ministers from various parts of the state were the main participants was rendered. The official laying of the stone with a short talk was performed by Rev. J. Kohlmeyer, of New Haven, who has charge of this congregation.

FORT WAYNE DUE FOR REAL TRIAL

Dayton Here for Three Games and Varnell Day Ceremonies.

Claude Varnell's battling Billikens are due for a real acid test in the next three days in a series with Dayton, and local fandom will have a chance to see whether the club is equal to holding its own with the leaders in the Central league flag race.

Harry Martin and his men are going at top speed now and putting on a line of baseball that is really worth while, and has climbed from a bad fifth to a pretty secure hold on third place and in doing this has shown strength that is a gratifying surprise to the owner and to the patrons who have stuck faithfully through the season under circumstances that sorely tried their loyalty.

Grover Cleveland Young, pitching impressario, is in turn for the opening affair on the lot on Tuesday afternoon and in this connection it is due this promising hurler to say that he has shaken off the ill luck that beset him from the time he joined the club until his last few starts. He has shown good form all along but the breaks went against him for a long time and he lost games that were real heart-breakers.

Bill Cramer is next on the list and unless there is some sort of a slip he will have the honor of hurling the Varnell day contest. He is a popular pitcher with the home crowds and the fact that he is to work insures a battle for the Vets.

Fred Bramble will pitch the final game. He has shown that he is a hard man to beat, and with Atkins, who is also working true to his best form, in reserve there is no reason why the locals should not take two of the three games.

Fred Bratchl fell in the Saturday game and injured his left wrist and hand, and was out of the Sunday engagements, but a day of rest will probably mend his hurts and make him ready for the Dayton series. Minwegan is due and he will be given a trial so that the other men in the staff can rest up a bit.

JAKE HOLDERMAN CENTURY HITTER

First of Local Players to Reach Hundred Mark at Bat.

Jake Holderman is the first of the Billiken batsmen to reach the century mark in the batting list and was the only member of the Martin troupe who has made as many as a hundred hits when the statistics were compiled.

Tommy Sheehan and Emil Grefe, of Terre Haute and Evansville, respectively, lead in the number of safe drives with 126, and Ray Spencer, who is the slugging member of the veteran corps, is following with 124. Clemons and Dellaven, two of his running mates, are coming along, and Springfield is the only club that is not represented in the list.

Ted Anderson was within a hit of the mark, with a number of other players so close that they needed but a slight rally to get inside the fold. The records are as follows:

DOWNS AND OUTS TO GET TICKETS

Fifty Purchased for the Fellows Who Have Been Good Sports.

In sportdom ill health, bad luck, dissipation, idleness and a dozen other causes leave a trail peopled with fellows who have been good fellows in their times but who are incapacitated and who cannot dig down into their wallets and come across with coin for baseball tickets or for anything else but the barest necessities.

In sportdom there is always also a deep feeling of sympathy for these fellows, no matter whether they have been wrecked on the sea of dissipation or have been victims of luck and ill health. Many and many a one of them is snatched into a ball game by player or attache and they are always grateful.

There is in Fort Wayne an ardent baseball man, a man who knows the game and who has had a few tosses himself in the seas of adversity. This fellow wanted to do something for the other fellows who have not been able to stem the tide, so he purchased fifty tickets for Varnell day and gave away fifteen and placed thirty-five with Secretary Bert Dennis, who will distribute them among the worthy downs and outs.

This will be done quietly and without embarrassment. Lots of these fellows have nothing left but their pride and they do not want to be put to the necessity of making public the fact that they are broke so fifty of them will be taken care of.

One fan will pay a full entrance fee for every employe at the park on Varnell day and another will pay a full fare for every boy that gets a ball knocked outside of the park.

Members of the committee got together again today, and they believe that the sale of tickets will reach 2,000, not counting those that will be purchased at the gates.

Two days are left in which to make a strong finish and the hustling committeemen expected when they started out Monday to make every minute count. The great work they have done so far indicates that the project is in excellent hands and that it will be successfully carried through.

The registers at the Robison park turnstile show that 8,886 people visited the resort Sunday. This number does not include those who entered the park in automobiles or through the farmer's gate.

AFTER ANOTHER FLAG.

Joe Cantillon.

Joe Cantillon, leader of Minneapolis, still is battling them in the association and striving to bring another pennant to his city. He hasn't changed a bit since he was the star umpire of the American league, and as many players claim, the best umpire that ever gave decisions. The new photograph reveals the fact that someone has missed a hit and run signal and also that Joe is gaining in plumpness.

ROOSEVELT GAVE MAHER A CHANCE

Prevented Policeman from Stopping Fight in New York.

(By Howard Carr.)

(Note—Mr. Carr is known as "Kid" Howard, and is also known in Fort Wayne. He has been at several of the mills staged here and was last seen in the ring as manager of Tony Caponi when he fought Glen Coakley).

Col. Theodore Roosevelt never claimed to be heavyweight boxing champion of the world, but he won that title once—not for himself.

It was when Roosevelt was police commissioner of New York during the Horton law days, and there was scarcely a fight of importance he did not attend, and when Maher and Choynski were matched in 1896 Col. Roosevelt and I sat together to watch the fight. He didn't know it—but I was there in the box with him and saw him whip Choynski, the toughest luck fighter in the history of the ring.

In that particular year Mr. Roosevelt was ripping up the "department" from end to end. No erring or grafting "copper" was safe, for none knew at what time Roosevelt would "can" him.

Peter Maher, the pride of Ireland, was billed to meet Joe Choynski in a twenty-round bout at the Broadway Sporting club. Not only was "Panther," as he was familiarly called, a great card but it was figured that he had an excellent chance of becoming the world's champion.

Nasty stories of the crookedness of the affair had got to the colonel's ears during the day and he was asked several times if he was going to allow the contest to take place. To these questions Roosevelt replied: "I shall be at the ringside myself and I can easily tell when two men are not trying honestly when they have gloves on their hands."

And so it was that on that eventful night the writer, then a youngster, had a chance to study the great statesman.

As a second in the main preliminary bout I had an opportunity of getting in the ring. When the last round was over instead of going on through to the dressing room I slipped into a vacant box on the right hand side of the ring and breathlessly awaited the coming of the big men.

I had just settled comfortably in a corner of the box when there was a stir and a murmur from the big crowd and an usher said:

"This way, gentlemen!" and at the same time yanked me by the ear out of the box.

"Here son, you just stay where you are," said the colonel to me, and the usher let go of my ear.

The colonel's interest was keenly awakened as the fighters climbed through the ropes.

Clang went the gong, and both men stepped briskly to the center of the ring. Choynski assumed a crouching attitude with his long left stuck straight out before him. Peter, on the other hand, stood straight up with his right arm held high. Both men sparred and very little damage was done.

The colonel had by this time snugly ensconced himself and was interestedly eyeing both fighters.

Again the bell rang. There was no fiddling or feinting when the men met this time. Joe banged his long left flush on Peter's nose. Maher came back with a vicious swing on Choynski's left ear. The punch was a terrific one and landed a bit too far back to topple Choynski. The force of the blow, however, made Joe quiver. He recovered enough before Maher could land again and towards the latter part of the round he had the face of Peter cut and bleeding from the visitations of his terrible left.

The third and fourth rounds were terribly hard fought and several times Choynski had Maher on the verge of a knockout, but every time the Irishman was apparently "all in" he would let go with his terrible right and slow up Choynski.

It was in the fifth round that the colonel's part came.

Barely thirty seconds were left of the round when Choynski shot a smashing left hook on the square chin of the Irishman. Joe followed the punch with a terrific right flush on the ear and Maher sank to the floor. Slowly the referee began to toll off the seconds that would mean defeat and oblivion to the representative of Ireland.

The blue eyes of Maher were half closed and glassy as he lay prone on the canvas. Choynski stood over him with a half smile, and through his bloody lips the white of his clenched teeth could be seen.

The referee called "nine" and in another second Maher would have been counted out—bang, went the bell, and for the time being Peter was saved.

As Maher's second dragged his prostrate form to his corner a captain of police was seen climbing up the little steps in the Irishman's corner. Roosevelt saw him quicker than any man in the arena.

"Where are you going?" he demanded, in tones of authority. The captain turned and saluted his superior.

"I am going to stop this bout," said the official.

"You are going to do nothing of the sort," exclaimed Roosevelt. Just then the bell rang and Maher was pushed from his corner fully recuperated and as fresh as ever.

Bang, crash went the hard fists against the body of Choynski. Suddenly, in a fierce mix-up over near the colonel's box, Maher shot a right hand punch straight on the long jaw of the Californian. Joe fell forward with his head on Peter's chest.

Peter stepped back, measured Choynski at arm's length and with all the strength in his body let go with his famous right hand wallop. The blow landed flush on Choynski's chin point. His knees went from under him, the blonde-topped head went forward and he fell a limp mass at the feet of Maher before Roosevelt's very eyes, an unconscious and beaten fighter.

"You see," said the colonel to his pale-faced and nervous friend as they both prepared to leave the clubhouse, "a man is never beaten until he's counted out," which has been unquestionably proven in the colonel's strenuous existence.

UTRECHT UP ONE TIME WITH CUBS

Had Trial With Henry O'Day's Outfit and Kicked on Setback

Mr. Utrecht, who debutted at Lexington park in the Sabbath bargain bill afternoon piece, and southpawed his way to a thrilling 3 and 2 victory over the climbing Billikens, once had a trial with the Cubs and made the spring training trip with Henry O'Day and his outfit of young Bruins.

He was pronounced good but not quite good enough for the National league going and it was determined to send him back for seasoning. The fact that he had been picked up by a major league team gave him an exaggerated idea of his ability and he announced that he was through with the game and would renounce forever and a day the yoke of servitude that promised him from $2,000 to $4,000 a year, and become a free man at $3 a day and only twelve hours' work.

Later he changed his mind and went to the Maysville, Ky., club and worked his way back to a class B league and on his comeback he put on an impressive line of hurling and luck stayed with him, although it slipped badly in the ninth frame.

The performance of the afternoon, like most double bills, went fifty-fifty. In the opener Freddie Bratcht was started against "Tuck" Turner but the Springfield spitter's moist heaving was not up to his usual standard and he was yanked in the third and made way for Ray Clark. If he hadn't been derricked the first game would probably have gone to the statutory 6 o'clock Sabbath day limit.

Mr. Bramble had his repertoire all slicked up for the Sunday going and he used it to such good advantage that the wandering Reapers gleaned only four safe drives off his delivery and not one reached the home plate after a tour of the bases. Consecutive, sustained and timely hingling in the first and second innings of the game gave the home troupe a lead that made it impossible for the enemy to overcome the big handicap of half a dozen runs and the game became tiresome.

In the second affair luck broke against Francis M. Atkins after he had put on a superb line of hurling under the most trying conditions. He breezed merrily through to the sixth inning when things began to happen to him. Utrecht was the first man up and went out. Mike O'Day hit to left and ran past first in an effort to make the blow count for two sacks. The ball was relayed to Brant and he threw wild trying to get O'Day and the runner took second.

Umlauf hit to right but the ball was returned too fast for O'Day to make more than one station. Reilly was struck out in a battle in which he went to three and two and fouled off a couple. Dietrich rolled a grounder down third base line to McLafferty and it looked like the danger was all over but the home third sacker threw wild and two runs scored. Dietrich took second and scored on Stanley's double.

A ninth inning rally was started by Holderman, who beat out a bunt and registered the second hit of the game. Dietrich fumbled Bramble's offering and Streeter hit to right for two sacks, sending over a couple of runs. Beyers went down easily, second to first, and Nespo hit a grounder that got by Reilly but Umlauf backed up the play and by a speedy throw nicked the runner and closed up the game.

Hard Times Parade on Woman's Day With Twenty Five Grand Prizes.

Robison Park has its Decorated Carriage Parade, its Boys' Parade and its Girls' White Dress Parade. This year it inaugurates its first WOMAN'S PARADE! In order that all expense may be eliminated as far as possible and that its spirit may be one of hilarity and fun, the Parade on WOMAN'S DAY will be of a ridiculous and comical nature. The more absurd the costume, the more likely will its wearer be to score in the prize awards. The dressing rooms at the Park theatre will be open to those who wish to use them. There will be five prizes in the first class, five prizes in the second class, five prizes in the third class, five prizes in the fourth class and five prizes in the fifth class, TWENTY-FIVE GRAND PRIZES. Robison Park has seventy-five women employed within its gates. Every one of these women will be dressed in HARD TIMES ATTIRE. In order that they may share in the merriment and mirth, five special prizes will be provided for them alone. The Parade will form at 4:00 p. m. in front of the pavilion, the line of march will be over the rustic bridge, up the hill to the band stand where the prizes will be distributed. Robison Park invites all its women friends to join in this Parade. 7-27-6t

UNCLE SAM'S CASH WILL HELP AGAIN

Federal Treasury to Make $34,000,000 Available for Crop Moving.

Washington, July 27.—Money from the federal treasury will be deposited in national banks throughout the country again this fall, to facilitate the movement of crops and promote business generally. Secretary McAdoo announced last night that he would put out appoximately $34,000,000 and that he stood ready to increase the amount to any extent necessary to meet the country's needs.

The secretary's estimate of what will be needed is based upon replies from five thousand national banks to a recent treasury department circular asking whether any unusual demand for money was expected this year and for what purposes. Last year the department inaugurated the custom of distributing funds in the crop handling centers, depositing about $35,000,000 of the $50,000,0000 Secretary McAdoo had decided to use for the purpose.

A statement from the department last night said:

"These replies (from the national banks) have been carefully analyzed and fully confirm the optimistic bulletins of the agricultural department as to the prospects for unusually large crops. They also indicate a decided promise of greatly improved business conditions and enlarged business activities throughout the country. The concensus of opinion of the bankers, is that it will be of great benefit to the crop movement and to business generally if the secretary will deposit government funds in the leading cities of the country, as was done last year.

"The replies indicate that government funds will not be needed in the New England and eastern states and in certain states in the west and northwest and in California. Bankers in the following cities expressed the opinion that no government deposits will be needed in their localities during the crop moving season: Cleveland, Columbus and Cincinnati, Ohio; Indianapolis, Ind., Minneapolis and Duluth, Minn.; Milwaukee, Wis.; Portland, Ore.; San Francisco and Los Angeles, Calif.; Tacoma, Wash.; Salt Lake City, Utah; Jacksonville and Tampa, Fla., and Mobile, Ala. Some of these cities asked for and received crop moving allotments last year. If it should develop that they or any of them, require deposits, their applications will be given consideration."

National banks in Evansville and Fort Wayne, Ind., were among those which indicated their desire for crop moving deposits and government funds, the total of which aggregates $34,000,000.

PIZARO'S HEALTH CAMPAIGN IN FORT WAYNE

THIS ODD WESTERNER'S NEW DISCOVERY, CLEANSING THE HUMAN BODY OF DISEASE AND INTERNAL PARASITES.

Men, Women and Children Snatched from Death Where Hope Was Gone—Tell How They Were Cured When Nothing Seemed Left to Live For—Many Visit Office at 215 W. Berry St.

Pizaro, the evangelist of health and happiness; the man who claims that most all ailments of the human body can be traced to weakened and degenerated stomachs, seems to be attracting an unusual amount of attetnion in Fort Wayne. He is enjoying an immense sale of his remedies and the headquarters at 215 West Berry street presents a busy scene daily as many people call to investigate and to purchase this new medical discovery that is curing the sick and suffering.

In speaking of his success in Fort Wayne Pizaro said: "It is this way everywhere I go. As I have said before, the stomach caused most of the ill health of this generation. I am successful because my medicine puts the digestive organs in shape and then nature does the rest."

Reports from Hammond, Ind., South Bend, Mishawaka and Goshen, Ind., where Pizaro has been holding forth all spring, tell of wonderful cures performed in all cities.

The following are a few of the many testimonials given by grateful people who have been cured or benefited by this new discovery:

Saved Man's Life.

Mr. Lloyd Staunard, living at 501 East Joseph street, Mishawaka, Ind., relative to the preparation which Pizaro is introducing, Mr. Staunard said: "I suffered with stomach trouble so bad that I could not retain food upon my stomach. I was bedfast and unable to work. I heard of the new discovery and purchased the preparations. I determined to give it a fair trial. Well, it was not very long ago that I noticed a change for the better; within two weeks the improvement began to show itself. I became more active, my mind was made clear. I no longer felt tired. I am now able to enjoy my meals and attend to my work. At present I never have that uncomfortable feeling due to gas on the stomach and my appetite could not be better, and I consider this the best medicine I ever heard of. It is the first time I have ever taken anything that really does what is claimed for it."

In speaking of Mr. Staunard's statement, Pizaro's physician said: "Hundreds of similar cases call at my headquarters daily to see me. I charge nothing for examination and consultation and I treat all chronic diseases of men, women and children, and I will not accept any incurable cases. However, as I have stated repeatedly, my medicine acts directly on the stomach and bowels, expelling from them all impurities and restoring them to a strong, healthful condition. I am convinced that the stomach regulates the condition of the blood and is the fountain head of health and disease, according to the mode of living of the man or woman. My medicine is intended primarily for the regulation of the stomach, but it is no uncommon thing for persons who have used it to come to me and explain that it has relieved them of many ailments not generally recognized as having their origin in the stomach."

Deafness Relieved.

Pizaro asked for the lame, rheumatic, deaf, sick and suffering to come and test his preparation. In response to this liberal offer, Mr. J. James, living at 227 West Pontiac street, who stated he had been troubled with deafness for fifteen years, called. Pizaro's physician applied a peculiar looking medicine and Mr. James could hear a common conversation at quite a distance.

Fort Wayne Woman.

Mrs. Emily May, living at 821 South Clinton street, Fort Wayne, stated that she wanted to thank Pizaro for what his medicine had done for her nephew, Mr. Roy Moore. Mr. Moore had stomach trouble for years; tried many doctors and medicines with results. But after taking just a couple of doses of Pizaro's preparation he expelled a monster tape worm.

This worm measured over 60 feet in length. Mr. Moore is now cured, enjoys perfect health; eats and sleeps good.

Another Woman Cured.

Mrs. Alma Page, living at 222 Michigan avenue, Hammond, Ind., stated that she had suffered untold misery, tried several different doctors and medicines and had given up until I heard of Pizaro and his medical expert. So I went to his headquarters and told Pizaro's doctor to examine me carefully, as my disease had baffled many others. Well, in less than three minutes he told me my trouble and in less than three hours I was completely cured. He told me my trouble was caused from a tape worm and gave me one dose of medicine told me to go home and await results, and to my surprise my system was relieved of a monster tape worm, which measured over 40 feet in length.

Woman's Statement.

A little woman standing in the audience exclaimed that she had a neighbor lady that was cured of a tape worm which measured over sixty feet in length after taking one dose of Pizaro's medicine. She also said that she was examined by Pizaro's doctor. I was surprised to see the waiting room crowded with people all waiting to see the doctor. I spoke to one lady there and asked her if this was her first visit to the doctor. "Oh, no," was the reply, "this is my third visit. I have been healed of my rheumatism and female trouble. When I first called here I could hardly walk and then only with a cane. See, I can walk now and and don't have to use my cane." Another fond mother remarked that her little son, Albert, was relieved of a handfull of stomach worms after three doses of Cactus Juice. Another old gentleman remarked that he was cured of lame back by Pizaro's preparation. Pizaro, in speaking of these seemingly miraculous cures, stated that in every city he visited his remedies did the same thing and his success and popularity is caused by his medicine curing and benefiting the sick and suffering. I am convincing a mighty lot of people here in Fort Wayne that all's the matter with them is a balky, stuffed up, overworked, weakened stomach and I claim that in from 7 to 30 days my medicine will regulate and make a lazy, degenerated stomach get right down to business.

FREE EXAMINATION AT 215 WEST BERRY STREET

Pizaro's doctor will meet the sick and suffering daily at his office, 215 West Berry street, and give free examination and consultation to all who call.

NOTICE.

No names or addresses of patients are printed without consent of the patient. No confidence violated.

You don't have to wait for years to know whether you are going to get cured. Not even months or weeks. A few days tell the story by this latest, most wonderful medical discovery.

PROBABLY ASLEEP ON THE RAILS

Fireman Curtis Killed as His Train Waited on Siding at Payne.

Herbert M. Curtis, a fireman on the Nickel Plate, was struck by an engine as he was seated on the rail, probably asleep, at 3:35 o'clock Sunday morning at Payne, Ohio, and so badly injured that he died seven hours later at St. Joseph hospital.

He was firing for Engineer Clarence C. Crosby on westbound freight train No. 35, which was ordered to take the passing track at Payne and give the right of way to eastbound fast freight train No. 52. No. 35 reached the siding considerably in advance of No. 52, and Mr. Curtis left the cab on account of the heat and sat down on the rail of the eastbound track. It is presumed he fell asleep, for he was struck by the engine of the passing train and hurled with terrific force against his own engine.

In an unconscious condition he was picked up, placed on his train, hurried to the city and taken to the St. Joseph hospital. There a thorough examination of his wounds by the company surgeon revealed the fact that he could not recover. His skull was fractured, several ribs were broken and one penetrated the lungs and there were several other bad wounds, but death was due to the fractured skull.

The crew of train No. 35 Sunday night, included besides Mr. Curtis, Engineer C. C. Crosby, Conductor C. D. Snyder, Fireman Samuel Paulson and Brakeman Bert Shondel. Train No. 52, which struck Mr. Curtis, was in charge of Conductor J. C. Fletcher, Engineer Milo R. Snyder and Fireman Ed Houser.

Mr. Curtis was one of the most popular and industrious men in the employ of the Nickel Plate. He was born in Delphos, Ohio, forty-two years ago and came to Fort Wayne when he was eighteen years old. He began service with the Nickel Plate in the capacity of a caller a number of years ago and has since served in various capacities, included being engine inspector, clerk and night foreman of the round house. Two years ago, at his own request, he was transferred to the road department and up to the time of the accident, fired on through freight trains, a good portion of the time with Engineer Clarence Crosby. He possessed a jovial disposition and an aptness for making friends and acquaintances, and it is said that no other man in the employ of the company could recall the names and identify men to a greater extent than Herbert Curtis. This made him valuable as identification clerk on pay days, and he usually served in that capacity. Last Thursday and Friday he was at the depot identifying the engineers and firemen who applied to Agent C. A. Pritchard for their pay checks.

Mr. Curtis is survived by the widow and three children, Lerene, aged 12 years; Genevieve, 10 years old, and Howard, 7 years old. Other surviving relatives are a brother and two sisters, Lawrence Curtis and Mrs. Daisie Riley, of Fort Wayne, and Mrs. Sadie Kennedy, of Buffalo. He was a member of Anthony division, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, and of lodge No. 376, American Yeoman, which orders will have charge of the funeral. The latter will be held from the house, 1422 Sherman street, Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Rev. C. O. Shirey, of Bethany church officiating. Interment will be at Lindenwood.

THE BOWSER EXCURSION.

Oil Pump Concern Will Entertain Its Employes at Winona.

S. F. Bowser, president of S. F. Bowser & Company, Saturday completed negotiations with the Pennsylvania for train service on the occasion of the annual outing at Winona of the employes of the company. Saturday, August 8, is the date of the big event. Two trains will take the party to Winona, one leaving the city at 8 o'clock and the other at 8:30 o'clock in the morning. Each employe will receive a ticket for himself or herself and the married men will be given one for their wives. It is expected that over 1,200 tickets will be given out and it is announced that the Bowser company will also pay the entrance fee into the Winona assembly grounds. The first excursion enjoyed by the Bowser employes at the expense of the company was twelve years ago and there has been one each year since, with increasing attendance in accordance with the increase of the forces at the big plant. They are always enjoyed by the employes, because their time continues the same as if they were at work in the plant and because they are given on Saturday, thus bringing two days of rest together.

THREE SHOPMEN INJUREED.

This morning while taking a sand dome from an engine, a portion of it came loose and fell, striking E. W. Wermeyer on the forehead and cutting a three inch gash. Machinist D. S. McKendry was engaged in removing the frame of an engine this morning, when the wedge flew out and struck him in the face, breaking the bones of his nose and inflicting some bruises and cuts. Dr. Budd VanSweringen attended these men. H. L. Collis had a hand injured several days ago, but did not consider it serious until yesterday. When the swelling refused to go down, he called in the company surgeon and the discovery was made that three of the bones are fractured. The injury will disable the man for some time.

En route home, one of the trains was annulled and only three were used in handling the crowd. The excursion was enjoyed by all and the trains made scheduled time going and coming.

WOP BOSS GETS BEST OF FIGHT

Chases His Crowd Behind Him and Whales Pair of Intruders.

"I knock one man down when he try to hit me over head with shovel and I knock other fellow down when I get hit in back my head with stone. That's all I do; nothing else."

This was the short and simple annal of a fight in the Lake Shore freight yards, Saturday afternoon, as told by Tom Darges, who, with George Brown, was tried in the city court Monday morning for disorderly conduct on charges sworn to by Joseph Mathison. Tom was boss heaver with a gang of wops engaged in unloading a car of track material and Mathison and a man named Miller were employed near by unloading a car of cracked stone. Somebody said something offensive to the aliens and they poured out of their car. Mathison and Miller tried to drive them back, arming themselves with stones. Boss Darges took charge of proceedings and knocked both of the men from the other car down and police were called. After hearing the testimony and finding that the principal witness for the prosecution had come to court with a breath redolent of beer and booze, Judge Kerr announced that the whole bunch should have been prosecuted and let the two foreigners go.

Crooked Man Tells a Crooked Tale.

John Grins and Fred Smith, two loiterers arrested Saturday evening by Detective sergeant Immel, had five pounds of plug tobacco. Grins said he had found it on the Wabash track soon after dropping from a Wabash train inside the city limits. On both men were found papers that indicated they were not the persons they claimed to be and they were locked up. Grins admitted he had once been arrested in Terre Haute for larceny. Judge Kerr fined each of them $10 and costs and they went to jail.

Other City Court Cases.

Phil Niees, Bob Martin, Frank Mariot, Fred Ellsom, Edward Kelly, Bill Hicks, William Scott, Ivan Cedarwill, Arthur Webster, James Nolan, John Campbell and Art Litton, all drunks, and Tom Hanley, a loiterer, were turned loose.

Mike Kochler, who raised a disturbance in the board of works office Saturday afternoon and was taken over to police headquarters by Street Superintendent Herman Strodel, was tried on a charge of disorderly conduct and given an indefinite continuance.

Steve Howard, a colored vag who has been begging about the streets for several days, was given $5 and costs and went to jail.

Jim Cass, an Indian, took on a cargo of firewater and made a rough passage to his boarding house and went down just outside of port. He was given $1 and costs.

William Brocking, a demented man held on a loitering charge, was continued until August 1.

Harold Sargent, 2809 John street, was fined $10 and costs and given a suspended sentence of thirty days on a charge of assault and battery on his wife. Sargent sued for divorce a week ago, making sensational charges of physical violence against his wife. It was shown by the testimony of a small but bright lad of the neighborhood that Sargent had struck his wife. An appeal was taken.

Harold Fryer, charged with neglecting his child, was shown to have wed his wife, Eva Fryer, under pleasure October 17, 1913; that he was defendant in a suit by which his wife got a divorce April 5, 1914, and that he became a father June 9, 1914. He was arrested at Lima, O., and brought back here. He never saw his child until it was brought by its mother into court. Judge Kerr gave him a chance to make good.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, July 27.—Although war tension carried the wheat market today decidedly higher, the excitement in the pit was far from being equal to that of Saturday. There was a general rush to buy, but it was noticeable that the orders notwithstanding being much more numerous than usual, were as a rule for comparatively small amounts. After opening ⅜c to 2¼ 2⅛c above Saturday night, the market held firm at around the top figures reached.

The close was nervous at the same as Saturday night to ⅜c advance.

Corn strengthened with wheat. Hot dry weather counted also against the bears. The opening, which was ⅝c to 1⅛@1¼c higher, was followed by some additional gains.

The close was steady at the same as Saturday night to ⅝@⅞c up.

Absence of hedging allowed oats to rise like the other cereals. Trading, though, lacked volume.

Shorts in provisions found offerings meager and were forced to bid up the market. Advancing quotations for hogs seemed to make sellers wary.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, July 27.—Losses of from two to four points were registered in the course of today's early trading on the stock market. Prices of Americans in London were down that much or more and the seriousness of the Servian situation coupled with new developments in Austria, contributed to a demoralized condition at the British metropolis. Continental exchanges were even more palleky, according to advices, and Vienna ordered a cessation of operations until Thursday. The weakest feature here was Canadian Pacific, which opened with a drop of over three points. Other shares in the international group were down one to two points and trading was of the most active and feverish character. Foreign selling was again a factor.

Trading in the first hour was in excess of 200,000 shares, of which a considerable part represented urgent foreign offerings. There was some diminution of activity toward the end of the first hour but announcement of further gold exports in large volume was seized upon as a fresh reason to sell. Prices went below those of the first hour and activity in all parts of the list was resumed. The bond market was weak.

Short covering assumed large proportions in the later session, with a material reduction of losses. Steel, Amalgamated and Reading were most prominent in the recovery.

Alarming conditions abroad caused declines of two to four points in the stock market today, with a sharp recovery in the final dealings due to advices of a more hopeful character. The closing was irregular.

DAILY MARKET LETTER.

(J. S. Phillips, Member Chicago Board of Trade, North American Building.)

Chicago, July 27.—Wheat opened higher this morning on war news from Europe and higher Liverpool cables. Selling by foreigners and profit-taking by local longs caused a reaction of about 1c from the top prices. There was a little more easier tone a tthe close on more favorable news as to the settlement of the difficulties between Austria and Servia. Favorable reports as to the big yields of wheat in the southwest and news that they were cutting spring wheat as far the North Dakota line, also had a tendency to hold the bulls in check.

Corn opened higher on the reports of continued dry and hot weather, but sold off on reports of showers and in sympathy with the break from the top prices in wheat. The news was somewhat mixed, there being some very good reports as to the growing crop from some sections and bad reports from other sections telling of the urgent needs of rains.

Oats opened higher and sold off with the rest of the market. The new crop is beginning to move and reports are generally good. The visible supply was as follows: Wheat increased 5,478,000; corn decreased 875,000, oats decreased 182,000.

Prices of stocks at 2:45 p. m. as follows:

Copper, 64¾; Atchison, 95; Smelter, 64; B. & O., 77¾; C. & O., 44¾; Canadian Pacific, 177; Erie, 24¼; Great Northern, 120½; Missouri Pacific, 10; Northern Pacific, 106; New York Central, 93¾; Pennsylvania, 109¾; Reading, 160¾; Southern Railway, 19¾; St. Paul, 98; Southern Pacific, 93½; New Haven, 83⅝; Union Pacific, 124½; U. Chicago Territory Feels Full Force of Police Rule.

Chicago, July 27.—The city's vice district felt the full force of police rule for the first time in its twenty years of existence. WOOLLEN IS NOW A POSSIBILITY

Indianpolis Banker Urged for Federal Reserve Board Place.

Washington, July 27.—Evans Woollen of Indianapolis loomed up Saturday as a possible successor of Thomas D. Jones of Chicago on the federal reserve board slate. Since the senate refused to confirm Jones, three or four names have been considered in the list of availables and to that list the name of Mr. Woollen probably will be added Monday.

Senator Kern, democratic leader of the senate, who has been a loyal supporter of the president on all legislative matters even to the extent of voting to repeal Panama free tolls against his personal inclination, probably will ask the president to appoint Mr. Woollen on the reserve board.

"I have received very strong representations in behalf of Mr. Woollen for this appointment from prominent business men of Indianapolis," said Senator Kern, "and I am inclined to present his name with my indorsement to the president for the place that was tendered to Mr. Jones. I shall first have a talk with the president and see what his views are in regard to the matter. I am very fond of Mr. Woollen and I have a very high opinion of his financial and business ability."

Mr. Woollen has for a good many years been an officer of banking and trust companies in Indianapolis. Senator Kern probably will take the matter up Monday with the president.

WOOLLEN HEARS NOTHING.

Local Financier Says He Has Not Been Consulted on Matter.

Indianapolis, July 27.—Rumors were current in Indianapolis yesterday that Mr. Woollen, who is vice president and counsel of the Fletcher American National bank, will be suggested to President Wilson for appointment to the reserve board. All efforts to confirm the rumors, however, were unavailing. Mr. Woollen said that he had heard nothing whatever of the matter and that Senator Kern had not consulted with him regarding it. There also were reports that the name of Stoughton A. Fletcher, president of the Fletcher American National bank, might be suggested.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Congress of Old Ladies Wednesday, August 5

Seventy-seven old Ladies, ranging in age from 75 to 90 years, registered in the Congress of Old Ladies at Robison Park last year. Massed together in one group, they presented an inspiring sight. Feeble, careworn and scared with the trials of many summers and with the hardships of many winters, they bore mute testimony of unseen battles, successfully fought against sickness, misfortune and untold discouragement. 5,000 women attended Women's Day last year. By their very presence they paid a glowing tribute to the 77 old ladies whose combined ages totaled over 6,000 years. Many who sat in the Congress in 1913 will be absent from the roll call on August 5th, because they have passed to the Great Beyond. Mrs. Amanda Rose, age 91, the oldest woman present last Women's Day writes that she is planning to come to the Congress this year. "It was the grandest day of my life," she says, "and I felt just like Queen Victoria." Mrs. Rose will ride in the carriage with the oldest woman present this year. They will be the Park's guests of honor. Jos. Weick, popular livery man of 1017 Hanna Street will have his finest coach and pair at the Park on Women's Day, so that the Park's guests may be driven about the grounds. Let everyone present show them marked respect.

SERVICE

GERMAN AMERICAN NATIONAL BANK

An old word has come to have a new meaning.

To "render service" used to be a matter of reproach.

Today "service" stands at the head of privilege and duty. He does best who serves best and he who serves most deserves most.

It's just the same with a bank. The real test is the service which it renders.

We aim to serve our customers and the community a little better than the average. Our Savings Department is a case in point.

It pays 4% on your savings and surrounds them with all the safeguards of a National Bank.

MARSHALL GETS THAT NEW AUTO

Machine Over Which Much Ado Was Made Purchased at Last.

Washington, July 27.—The vice president's new automobile, for which congress recently appropriated $4,500, was purchased Saturday. It is a sixty horsepower, six-cylinder, seven-passenger touring car and its color is maroon. The price paid was not made public. It is specified, however, in the legislation appropriating the $4,500 that this amount must cover the cost of the chauffeur and upkeep for one year, as well as the purchase price of the machine.

Mark Thistlethwaite, the vice president's secretary, has been charged with the duty of entertaining the automobile agents who have been swarming about the vice president's office for weeks, hoping to land the vice president as a customer, and he breathed a heavy sigh of relief when his ordeal was ended.

The vice president and Mrs. Marshall are planning several trips soon in the new auto, one to Atlantic City and another through the Shenandoah valley.

ELEVEN ARE INJURED.

Indianapolis, July 27.—Eleven persons were injured, none seriously, when two street cars collided in front of the West Washington street barns last night. The collision was caused by an inbound car "splitting" a switch and sideswiping an outbound car. All of the supports holding the roof of the inbound car were broken, letting the top down over the passengers.

ACCIDENTALLY KILLS BROTHER.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 27.—While playing with a small revolver yesterday, Rupert Shaw, 13 years old, accidentally shot and killed his brother Ralph, 9 years old. The barrel of the old-style weapon had become clogged with sand and while trying to clean it the gun was discharged.
